Courage and Sacrifice
Getting Away From Oil

TELEGRAMS EXCHANGED between Philip Payne, editor of the New York Daily Mirror, and W. R. Hearst, his employer, show that Payne started with Bertaud and Hill on the attempted flight to Rome without Mr. Hearst's knowledge and in spite of his warnings, and that Mr. Hearst offered to pay the two pilots their full bonus if they would abandon the flight, in view of its dangers, and of recent disasters.

Those experienced have little hope of good news from the lost airmen. When their S O S was sent out at 4 in the morning and the wind was blowing hard, on a rough sea, crashing into the waves in the darkness, it is unhappily not probable that the men would be able to disengage and use their rubber boat.

However, no effort is wasted, no display of courage without its useful effect on other men. In a short time all now living will be dead. Fortunate those that die in a good cause, courageously.

An oil well in Texas Spindletop Dome, yesterday, "ran wild." Starting last Tuesday with 1,000 barrels a day, coming from the 5,000-foot level, when tools were taken out, drillers could not control the pressure and yesterday the well was spouting 1,000 barrels an hour.

Marvelous are our supplies of oil, and shameful our waste of such treasure, persisting in spite of government warnings that the supply cannot last.

Two weeks ago at the Trianon Hotel in Versailles, Samuel Insull, of Chicago, biggest developer of power in America, said to this writer: "I am getting away from oil and getting back to coal everywhere." Wise Mr. Insull knows that cheap oil will soon be a thing of the past, and prefers to rely on old king coal for steady power.

A dispatch from Berlin says: "Not a soul in Germany takes seriously the resolution of the great powers, at Geneva, to outlaw war."

Great powers talking about outlawing war are as silly as tigers would be adopting a vegetarian diet, and as pathetic as little boys who promise to be good "all the rest of my life."

In London last week Mr. Garvin, editor of the London Observer, one of the most intelligent observers in Europe, said to this writer, and Ralph D. Blumenfield, editor of the London Express: "To talk of peace as secure is preposterous. No well informed man in England even dares to say that peace is PROBABLE."

The Earl of Garysfort has sold his first folio edition of Shakespeare for $62,000, a top price.

Millions in Bet Orgy in Wall St.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
(Copyright, 1927, by International News Service.)

New York, Sept. 9.—Wall Street is in the throes of a betting orgy.

A million dollars or more will be wagered on the Dempsey-Tunney fight, half a million at least on the spectacular four-cornered National League pennant race, $25,000 to $50,000 on tomorrow's polo match between the British and American teams, close to $1,500,000 on the World Series, and from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 on the next presidential campaign.

These figures were supplied to International News Service today by Frank Silinsky, betting commissioner of W. L. Darnell & Co., one of the several big brokerage houses that deal in wagers.

EIGHTY ARE RESCUED; JANITOR DOES HEROIC WORK WITH ELEVATOR

The propensity of a woman for reading today averted a possible fire horror when the exclusive Wadsworth Chambers at No. 83 Brattle street, Cambridge, occupied by 30 families, was swept by flames that did damage estimated at $100,000.

One fireman, overcome while working on the sixth floor, was saved by comrades after he hung helplessly across a window-sill, unconscious from inhaling smoke. He is Edward Burke of Combination 2, and is at the Cambridge Relief Hospital.

The 30 families included about 80 persons, chiefly adults.

Mrs. Laurie L. Burgess, occupying a suite of rooms on the sixth floor, was the heroine of the blaze. Sharing honors with her was Verde Harding, colored janitor, who ran his elevator up and down several times, bringing terrified inmates to the street. On the last trip the elevator caught fire and was abandoned.

Across the street, the fashionable Agassiz Hall, a unit of Radcliffe

AGED MAN ADMITS GIFT OF $5,000 TO HIS MAID

Testifying in the hearing of his petition for the removal of the conservator of his estate, in Norfolk Probate Court today, Thomas Fernald, seventy-seven-year-old retired Quincy business man, admitted making a $5,000 present to twenty-six year old Marjorie Renault, a housemaid.

Following the conclusion of the witness' cross-examination, the hearing was indifenitely postponed by Judge McCoole because of a lack of witnesses.

Channing Fernald, a son of the petitioner, is conservator of the estate, which his father estimated at $60,000. The elder Fernald admitted he had given $5,000 in securities to the girl and that he gave her a key to a safety deposit box.

The witness said he had forgotten the incident while testifying under direct examination.

He denied he had ever talked with Captain Doran of the Quincy police about Miss Renault.

"When you introduced Miss Renault to Mr. Richardson of Quincy," Fernald was asked, "Did you refer to her as 'My Marjorie?'"

FRENCH PLACE HEAVY DUTIES ON U. S. GOODS

Paris, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—What are said to be prohibitive duties upon a variety of American exports to France have been in force against shipments from United States ports since September 1, it was learned today. The new duties are from four to six times higher under the general tariff now effective than previously.

This fact came as a surprise to the American Embassy on Wednesday, it was stated, the Embassy having understood from the French Foreign Office that the new tariffs were rather more favorable to America than the old schedules.

The Embassy, acting under instructions from the State Department, is making energetic represent-

Though Mrs. Almatia Bennett of Chicopee, in Boston celebrating her 101st birthday anniversary, dcelares she has little use for cigarette-smoking flappers, she qualifies as a real "high flier" by hopping off in several airplane trips—that of today to take her to Old Orchard, Me. Nearly 40 years older than the 62-year-old princess who went to her death in a transatlantic attempt, "Grandma" Alamatia Bennett of Chicopee celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary today with a 100-mile flight and plans to fly to California on her 105th.

MONSOON HOLDS UP U. S. WORLD FLIERS BEFORE ARRIVAL IN HONG KONG

Hong Kong, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The round-the-world airplane Pride of Detroit made a successful flight from Hanoi, French Indo-China, to Hong Kong, arriving here at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon. Aviators Edward F. Schlee and William S. Brock skipped their projected call at Bangkok, Siam.

Their arrival here relieved a period of widespread anxiety. For 33 hours from the time of the hop-off at Rangoon until their arrival at Hanoi no word had been received from them.

The Pride of Detroit flew across Hong Kong harbor northward, twice circled the headquarters of the Royal Air Force and then gracefully descended to the ground, where a number of British airmen volunteered to assist in mooring the plane.

Aviator Schlee first stepped from the cockpit and was greeted by Squadron Leader MacPherson of the Royal Air Force and American Consul Shanz.

The world fliers stated that they had passed over Bangkok, but did not stop there as they were delayed by a monsoon. They said they left Hanoi at 7:35 a. m. Friday (Far Eastern time). They encountered strong head winds, but otherwise the flight was accomplished without incident.

When invited by Squadron Leader MacPherson to have refreshments at

FAIL TO FIND OLD GLORY IN 260-MILE SEARCH

New York, Sept. 9 (A. P.).—The liner Carmania has reported to the Cunard steamship offices here that she proceeded 260 miles over the estimated course of the Old Glory, but that a vigilant lookout failed to discover any trace of the lost monoplane or its crew of three.

New York, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—No word came today to lighten the apprehension over the fate of Old Glory, bearing Lloyd Bertaud, James D. Hill and their passenger Philip A. Payne, managing editor o the New York Daily Mirror, or o the Sir John Carling, bearing th Canadian fliers, Captain Terry Tull and Lieutenant James Medcalf.

Should none of these adventurers be found, the death toll taken by long distance ocean flights, since last May, will have mounted to 20 in addition to seven persons killed since last September in preparation for such flights.

700 BAY STATE VETS LEAVE HUB FOR PARIS

With a roar from thousands fo persons and the whistling of scores of harbor boats, intermingled with the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Marseillaise," the Cunard liner Scythia, bearing 700 American Legion delegates from Massachusetts to the Paris convention, sailed from East Boston this afternoon for France.

And as the big black liner, its top structures glistening white in the September sun, moved slowly down the harbor with airplanes from the Boston airport humming overhead, the band gave way to wedding marches in honor of 10 honeymooning couples who are on board.

It was the greatest sendoff that the East Boston docks have witnessed in years—marked contrast to

WOMAN HEROINE OF CAMBRIDGE FIRE AS EIGHTY ARE RESCUED

FIREMAN IS OVERCOME BY SMOKE

College, was threatened, but firemen prevented spread of the fire.

Mrs. Burgess discovered the fire, aroused the janitor and others in the building and then, not content with that, waited until firemen arrived.

Several excitable tenants raced down stairways or fire-escapes without waiting to save any of their property. One woman, clad only in an overcoat which she had thrown over her nightgown, was seen tightly clutching a bath-towel. Others carried articles of slight value.

The fire is believed to have started in the hallway on the sixth floor, directly in front of the apartment of Miss Besse H. Rudd. Police believe it smouldered for some time before breaking into flame.

Mrs. Burgess discovered the flames.

"I did not feel like sleeping," she said. "And, as I am very fond of books, I picked up one and was reading when I suddenly smelled smoke.

WAKENS TENNANTS.

"I rang the janitor's bell and aroused Mr. Harding. I told him to bring up a couple of extinguishers. He came up in the elevator but when I opened the door of my suite to meet him, I ran into a wall of smoke that was stifling. The heat was terrific and I could hardly breathe.

"Then I ran to the other apartments on the sixth floor and called to those inside to get up, that the house was on fire.

"I tried to get back into my apartment then but the fire jumped in front of me and that was impossible."

Meanwhile, Harding shouted to the frightened tenants to get into the elevator. Down he shot with one load and then up again for another. He repeated this several times until, finally, his elevator caught fire and he was forced to abandon it on the first floor.

Mrs. Burgess lost everything. Miss Mary A. Lewis, a new tenant on the top flor, also lost most of her belongings, most of which were stored temporarily in the Burgess suite. The apartment of N. J. Mac[illegible], F. J. Arlington and Miss J. H. Davies, all on the top floor, were badly burned.

Brighton Abattoir Fire Being Probed

Investigation was made today to learn the cause of a three alarm fire which burned the front portion of the main building of the fertilizer plant at the Brighton Abattoir, with a loss estimated at $15,000. Sheets of flame shooting through the roof lighted the district and attracted thousands.

The wind carried sparks which set fire to dwellings on Wexford street, in the congested section of Brighton. Fire apparatus had been sent to this district as a precautionary measure, and the danger was thus averted by the prompt putting out of the many small fires that were started.

The building was the oldest structure at the abattoir.

THREE INJURED IN BUS CRASH

A Providence-Boston bus, carrying 23 passengers, and a two-ton auto truck, collided today at the corner of Stuart street and Trinity place, injuring three persons.

When police fought their way through the snarl of stalled motor vehicles, they found the truck reposing on its right side, broken bottles, which comprised its cargo, littering the street, and three persons more or less severely injured. All the passengers of the bus were shaken up.

The injured, who were sent home in taxicabs, were Miss Florence McKinnon of No. 44 Russell street, Charlestown, cut on the right arm; Samuel Goldstein, No. 117 Cottage street, and Benjamin Freede, No. 51 County road, both of Chelsea, operator and owner respectively of the truck.

The collision occurred at a time when Stuart street was filled with traffic. The bus, owned by the New England Transportation Company, a subsidiary of the New Haven Road, had left Providence at 7:30 and was bound for Park square. The operator was Francis P. Gillerin of Providence.

The bus was considerably damaged, and another was sent out, in which the passengers continued their journey.

ADMITS GIFT OF $5000 TO MAID

"I don't remember saying that," was the reply.

The witness said he introduced the girl in the usual manner. He said, as far as he knew, she had no money except what she had saved from her wages.

"Did your wife ever find fault about you going out with this girl?" he was asked.

"She never did to me," the witness replied.

"You took her to theatres, parties and to other social events, didn't you?"

"And to churches."

"Did your son ever say anything about this woman?"

"No."

The witness said he had not seen Miss Renault for two weeks, except in court, and denied visiting her in Quincy a week ago Thursday night.

He admitted he went to the girl's home in New Brunswick every year since 1912, except 1923.

Killed During Scuffle

Lansford, Pa., Sept. 9.—Edward Kissner, 16, is dead as the result of a desire of both himself and John Robins to take the first shot at a chipmunk on a tree. Robins was carrying the gun and Kissner grabbed it. During a scuffle the trigger discharged the contents and the shot tore into Kissner's brain.

Seaplanes Proved Safer in Hops Over Ocean

New York, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Experiences of airplanes which have flown away and disappeared in the port of missing airmen recall that pilots of seaplanes have found much better fortune in transoceanic flying.

As early as 1919 one of three U. S. navy seaplanes flew from Newfoundland to the Azores, although two companion planes were forced down and wrecked on the way. The crews were saved.

Capt. Gago Countinho and Capt. Sacadura Cabral, Portuguese airmen, had to descend to the sea but escaped to continue their flight from Portugal to Brazil in 1922 and Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian airman, this year completed a four continent flight after he was forced down at sea.

Commander Ramon Franco, Spanish flier, flew from Spain to Argentina last year but he landed in Brazil with one propeller out of commission.

said as she started for the Boston Airport for her hop to Old Orchard.

"I'm only hoping they will have transcontinental planes running four years from now, so I can fly right from Boston to Los Angeles in 1931."

This is the third air voyage for Mrs. Bennett, who is known as "Chicopee's grand old woman," and Charles Bradley, who makes the flight today with her and Pilot Harry Jones, is taking his second airplane ride at the age of ninety-nine.

Going to bed long after midnight because of her pre-birthday festivities at the Hotel Statler, where she dined and danced, "Grandma" Bennett was up bright and early at 6:30.

"I've read all the newspapers, had a good breakfast and am feeling fine," she said to reporters two hours later, adding with a hearty laugh:

"I didn't eat much, because I don't want to be too heavy for that airplane.

"Oh, yes, I usually eat quite a lot. Why, some friends of mine wouldn't believe I could eat eleven ears of corn but I did, just the other day.

"This is the finest time I ever had in my life, and that's saying something for a girl of my age.

"REALLY NOT SPORTY."

"Don't think I'm one of the sporty kind. Really I'm not. I'm just a staid old lady but I like to ride in the air and show younger folk it isn't dangerous. There's a great thrill in it, too. My great regret is I wasn't born later or that airplanes weren't invented sooner.

"Just think, I went about 99 years without ever having had a ride in a plane. Yes, I know lots of people go all their lives without going up in the air but luckily I got a chance to fly by living what you might call 'overtime.'

"But about that sporty business, just be sure and put it down that I'm not that kind. No, I don't smoke and I think smoking is beneath us women. I don't like to see women and girls smoke.

"I don't like flappers either. Why, I went to a musical show a little while ago, and, land's sakes, you can see more on the street than you do on the stage nowadays."

In a luxurious automobile Mrs Bennett, together with Mr. and Mrs Bradley, toured the city after breakfast. The flight to Old Orchard was postponed from 9 until 1 o'clock, so that the tide would be out, leaving the Maine beach broad and safe for landing.

MR. BRADLEY ENTHUSIASTIC.

Bradley, who was up early, too, has his own regrets that airplanes were invented and developed so late.

"I'm mighty sorry they didn't have them when I was a boy," he said. "I've been up once before and I like it. I never saw anything in it to be afraid of, once I was up in the air."

Mrs. Bradley is not making the flight. She explained that she was not afraid either, but believed that this was her husband's day and she didn't want to take any of the limelight from him.

Robinson Favors Federal Control of Sea Flights

Washington, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Establishment of some Federal authority to prohibit long overseas flights when their success is too problematical or the risks involved are not commensurate with the results to be obtained is imperative, in the opinion of Acting Secretary of the Navy Robinson, in view of recent aviation disasters.

He expressed the view that logically such authority should be rested in the Department of Commerce.

ROYAL WINDSOR HOP HALTED

Harbor Grace, N.F., Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Because of unfavorable weather here today, "Duke" Schiller and Phil Wood announced that their plane Royal Windsor would not take the air before tomorrow.

They had planned to make a flight in search of Old Glory, while withholding definite announcement as to whether they would abandon their projected flight to Windsor, Eng.

air force headquarters, the fliers replied:

"The first thing we wish to do is to look after our motor."

LOOK AT MOTOR.

Brock and Schlee then set to work in business-like manner, attended by British airmen.

Schlee told the reporter for the Associated Press that he and Brock hoped to hop off from Hong Kong tomorrow at daylight, but they had not yet decided on their destination.

The airplane today was being refueled with 200 gallons of gas. Both airmen appeared to be fit, showing little evidence of fatigue as a result of their strenuous flight.

From Hong Kong the airmen had only a 780-mile jump to Shanghai before starting off on a flight over water to Tokyo—their first lap on the cross-sea flight.

From Tokyo they face a dreary 2,480-mile journey to Sand Island of the Midway Islands, an isolated coral group almost in mid-Pacific between the North American continent and Asia.

After that they must negotiate a 1,440-mile flight to Honolulu and another of 2,400 miles to San Francisco.

The airmen are approaching the halfway mark in their journey. When they reached Hong Kong they had negotiated 10,295 miles of their flight of 22,212, the distance of the circle around the world from Harbor Grace, N. F., where the flight started August 27.

Hint World Fliers May End Trip at Yokohama

San Francisco, Sept. 9 (I.N.S.).—A possibility that the proposed flight of the Pride of Detroit over the Pacific, via Midway Islands, would be abandoned, loomed today when it became known the backers of the flight were negotiating with the Dollar Steamship Line for passage of the plane and the fliers from Yokohama to Honolulu.

Persons here familiar with the Midway Islands do not believe a flight from Japan to the islands is feasible. The islands, they say, are mere specks on the ocean and would be extremely difficult for the fliers to locate.

Army aviators stationed at Manila have also pointed out the danger of such an undertaking. Some of them declared that Brock and Schlee would be fortunate if they came within 150 miles of Midway, in the event they tried the ocean hop from Japan.

Courtney Ready to Hop From Coruna Today

Coruna, Spain, Sept. 9—Captain Frank T. Courtney, whose flying boat "Whale" is ready here to resume the flight to Canada, was forced again to postpone his hop-off, on account of bad weather.

Courtney had to turn back and land here last week after stating from Plymouth, England, on a cross-ocean flight. Repairs and refueling were completed several days ago.

TEN SENTENCED FOR DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Ten defendants were today found guilty in East Cambridge District Court for operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor. This is a record number for a single day in that court. Punishment ranging from $100 fines to sentences of three months in the House of Correction were meted out by the two judges who presided. One defendant was a student.

In addition, five more drivers were charged with this offence in complaints sworn out before Clerk William A. Forbes of the same court. They will be arraigned later.

3 MORE LINERS PREPARE TO SAIL WITH VETERANS

New York, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The "On to France" movement of the "Second A. E. F." continued today as three liners prepared to put to sea with additional contingents of World War veterans bound for the tenth anniversary convention of the American Legion in Paris.

More than 6,000 already were on the high seas in six vessels that sailed from the port of New York yesterday and two that departed the day before. Tomorrow the United States liner Leviathan was scheduled to resume its wartime role of troopship and sail with one of the last contingents.

NAB $10 HOLDUP SUSPECT AS SLAYER

Arrested today after a $10 gunless holdup in Roxbury, Mario De Marco of Moon stret, North End, was named by police fingerprint experts as the man wanted for the murder of Leon Chenovsky in the South End six weeks ago.

Two girls who were the direct cause of the killing declared De Marco looked like the slayer, while a youth who was slashed when Chenovsky was fatally wounded stated positively De Marco was the man.

Police oficials promptly placed a charge of murder against the North End youth.

The holdup which caused his arrest occurred in Parker street, Roxbury, early this morning, and as there were five youths involved it netted De Marco only $2 while involving him in much more serious trouble, according to the police.

Quick work by police of two divisions and inspectors at headquarters resulted in the arrest and identification.

Patrick Smith of Smith street, Roxbury, was walking through Parker street when an automobile drew up to the curb and two men leaped out and overpowered him, taking the $10 he had in his pocket.

They fled in their car, but the registration number was given the police and an hour and a half later Motorcycle Officer George Dane of Roxbury Crossing station spied the automobile parked in Columbus avenue. Dane arrested the four occupants who gave their names as Mario DeMarco, Vincent Di Stacio, Charles Carbone and Anthony Cosco.

It was a hired automobile and police learned from the renting company that it was let out to a youth named John H. Lyons who was later taken into custody. All five were held as suspicious persons.

At headquarters, the robbed man view the suspects and said Cosco resembled one of the two robbers who attacked him.

Meanwhile fingerprint experts, James Claflin and William Harrow, were busy and they reported that DeMarco's prints, in their opinion, were those of one of the two men involved in the killing of Chenovsky on July 27 in Tremont street.

Chenovsky was killed when he went to the aid of Herman McDonald of Tremont street who, in turn, was attempting to defend two girls, Roth and Grace Summers, who had repulsed advances made by two men. Chenovsky died in City Hospital two days afterward and McDonald, who was also stabbed, was in the hospital for several weeks. The knife-wielders escaped, although there were many eye-witnesses of the fight.

After the fingerprint identification of DeMarco, today, Special Officers Louis DiSessa and Arthur Tierney of Station 5 took the two sisters and McDonald to headquarters where they picked DeMarco from a line-up, according to the police.

BALTIMORE'S FIRST TRIPLE EXECUTION

Baltimore, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Three negroes, all of them convicted murderers, were flanged shortly after midnight in the Maryland Penitentiary—the first triple execution in the history of Baltimore. Arthur Swann was executed first, and Ottie Simmons and William Henry Ross followed in order.

Ross was sentenced on June 13 in a Hagerstown court for the murder of Mrs. Lottie Moelfresh, Frederick. Swann and Simmons received the death sentence in Frederick for the murder of Edward Carpenter of Indian Head, on January 8. Robbery was the motive.

HOPE TO FILL CLINE JURY TODAY

Rockville, Ct., Sept. 9 (I.N.S.).—onard Cline's reputation as an uthor has led his publishers to lend nancial support in his fight to cape the gallows for the alleged urder of his friend, Wilfred P. Ir-in, it was learned today.

Cline's trial in Superior Court ntered its third day with indications at the jury box will be filled bere night.

Cline's spirits rose as the jury box radually filled. Nine jurors have en accepted and Cline has passed n each.

The novelist also was cheered by the presence of his wife, Katherine, although she wept quietly when she spoke to him after adjournment. Mrs. Cline is a small, frail woman, who shows more than her husband the effects of the ordeal. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John S. Wierengo, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. Wierengo, it is said, will be a character witness. Cline also expects Mayor John Smith and Circuit Court Judge Ira Jayne, of Detroit, to appear for him. Cline once was employed as a newspaper man in Detroit.

HUB PRIZE FOR OCEAN FLIGHT WITHDRAWN

Withdrawal of the $25,000 Boston transatlantic air flight prize was formally made today.

The prize, to which subscriptions had been made by leading bankers and merchants of Boston, was originated for the purpose of stimulating transoceanic flight from Europe to the Boston Airport, and was to have been awarded in its entirety to the first aviator succeeding in making the first non-stop westward flight to Boston.

Unseasonable weather and a fear that the prize offer might encourage hasty attempts by improperly qualified fliers or men with poor equipment, decided the trustees to revoke the offer and return all subscriptions intact to donors. As all work in connection with the subscription campaign has been gratuitous, it has not been necessary to make any deduction from subscriptions for expenses.

In making public their decision, the trustees stated today:

"Due to the approach of unseasonable weather, the trustees of the Boston Airport Transatlantic Purse have decided to withdraw the purse for the remainder of the current year and return all contributions. They feel that under the circumstances it is undesirable that any stimulus be offered that might encourage rash attempts to win a prize with personnel not properly qualified or planes not properly prepared.

"The trustees are of the opinion that such a purse should be in the nature of a reward for an achievemetn that will distinctly benefit aviation, and not as a prize for a race. They therefore hope that as soon as the season is again propitious it will be practicable to raise a purse for this purpose, and they feel confident that the response will be satisfactory."

Radiograms were sent to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the Aero Club of France and the North German Lloyd Line, notifying officials of the withdrawal of the purse. Announcemetn was also sent to the National Aeronautic Association at Washington.

POSSES HUNT SLAYER OF N. Y. STATE TROOPERS

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Intensive search was being conducted today for Wilmot Leroy Wagner, 22 years old, following the murders of State Troopers Robert Roy and Arnold Rasmussen. The troopers were shot down after they had served a warrant on Wagner accusing him of petty larceny in defrauding a Filmore garage man of $6.28 for gasoline and oil.

Posses comprising specially sworn in deputies and State troopers from all parts of the State combed the thick woods into which Wagner fled after the shooting.

BAY STATE GIRL TO WED LORD HEMPHILL'S SON

New York, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—A romance whose first chapter was written in Rome had a page added here today when Martin Hemphill, 26, son of Lord oJhn Hemphill of Dublin, got a license to marry Emily eSars, 24, daughter of Irving Sears, Webster, Mass., shoe manufacturer.

Hemphill met Miss Sears in Rome, where she was doing free lance newspaper work. They plan to be married tomorrow at St. Patrick's Cathedral and sail for a honeymoon in Rome.

CRITIC OF AL SMITH "GAGGED" BY SUPERIORS

Washington, Sept. 9 (I.N.S.).—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman, who made an attack on Governor Al Smith of New York in a Labor Day speech at Buffalo, has been told politely by his superiors to avoid personal references in addresses of the future. Treasury officials are understood to feel that Lowman should seek to enforce the prohibition law rather than talk about it.

"Bricks," Made of Grapes for Wines, Cause Indictment

Chicago, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Bricks weighing a pound and a half apiece and selling at $2 each throughout the country aroused the curiosity of Federal authorities and caused an investigation that resulted in indictments against officials of the Vino Sano Grape Brick Company, charging conspiracy to violate the dry law.

The bricks were made of compressed grapes and on each brick was a printed caution that if water be added to the brick it would ferment and become alcoholic. While the label was in the form of a caution it also contained recipes for turning the brick into wines.

LOCK ARMS AND DIE BY GAS

New York, Sept. 9 (A. P.).—Locked in each other's arms with tubes extending from their mouths to the gas range, Philip Sussman, wealthy retired real estate broker, and his wife died together today in their Brooklyn home.

Sussman had been suffering from a heart ailment. Apparently, police say, Sussman decided upon suicide and his wife, rather than be separated from the husband after 30 years, decided to die with him.

WILLIAMS QUITS VENICE RACE

Washington, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Lieutenant Alford J. Williams will not participate in the Schneider Cup race at Venice, it was announced today by Assistant Secretary Robinson of the Navy.

"I am advised by Lieutenant Williams that it will be impracticable to complete adequate tests and trials to warrant embarking for Venice in sufficient time to arrive, make final check tests and qualify as a representative of the United States for the Schneider Cup race," Mr. Robinson said.

HANGS HIMSELF ON BED POST

Hanging by his belt to a post of the bed, the body of Patrick McGurn, 44, was found in his room at a Main street, Woburn, lodging house today by Mrs. Harriet O'Meara, the landlady.

Mrs. O'Meara told the police McGurn had been despondent since the death of his wife two years ago. Dr. Vernon T. Stewart, the medical examiner, pronounced it a case of suicide.

AMES SHIP SAFE AFTER CRASH IN LONG CRUISE

Newport, R. I., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Her deck combing cracked and dory smashed from her 4,200-mile grind, the 50-foot schooner Primrose IV., owned by Frederick Lathrop Ames, son of Mrs. F. L. Ames, Newport and Boston, came into port here.

Her captain and crew surprised their relatives and friends here. As they dropped anchor in the inner harbor Arthur Manchester, builder of the craft, recognized her and flashed a message to Mrs. Ames.

The little schooner-rigged craft without topsails and with fishermen's type staysails, 44-foot on the water line, 13-foot beam and drawing 7½ feet has accomplished a feat few small boats have even attempted.

Leaving here June 21 last year she crossed the ocean without adventure to sail in the Cowes races, then was stored for the Winter. On July 12 she left for home, touching at Scotland, Iceland, Labrador and Nova Scotia.

IN THICK FOG.

Off Cape Sable the Scandinavian steamer Strusholm ran her down in a thick night fog, smashing her combing and carrying away some rigging and gear.

Captain Ames was accompanied on the return voyage by Warwick Tompkins, navigator; Francis La Farge, Jack Bishop and Thomas Sherwin, a picked crew, who during their long grind far from the regular steamer lines, were out of touch with land, being unequipped with radio.

It is planned to repair the Primrose IV that she may be ready next year for another long cruise, perhaps of exploration as well as sport.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS SEEK WAGE INCREASE

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The United National Association of Postoffice Clerks today re-elected C. P. Francisous of New York president and adopted a legislative program to include an appeal to Congress for weekly pay days, a thirty-day vacation and an increase in the wage scale to maximum of $2,400 and retirement at the age of sixty. The present wage scale ranges from $1,700 to $2,100. The scale proposed would run from $2,000 to $2,400.

A six-hour day for night work. Time and a half pay for overtime and Sunday work, closed windows on holidays and the making of Lincoln's birthday a time and a half holiday were also included in the program.

FINDS PASTOR GREGG HAS "SUFFERED ENOUGH"

Delaware, O., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The Rev. Albert Sidney Gregg of Cleveland, who served a term in Atlanta penitentiary for sending unlawful matter through the mails, has been found guilty of conduct unbecoming a minister by a committee of the Northeast Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference, it is reported. No punishment will be meted out to Gregg, as the committee decided he already has "suffered enough."

Gregg was convicted in 1925 of mailing an affidavit accusing another Cleveland minister of improper relations with a woman parishioner.

INVITATIONS HELD UP; ONLY 5 AT CONVENTION

Danville, Ill., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Only five very surprised delegates were present yesterday when the National Federation of Citizens' Protective Association convened in annual session. There was no glad hand from the Danville Chamber of Commerce and the usual convention enthusiasm was missing. Some one had forgotten to mail invitations to members and notices to Chamber of Commerce officials.

SAYS POTATOES DID NOT ROT IN TRANSIT

Claim by A. M. G. Soule, chief of the division of inspection of the Maine State Agricultural Department, that the condition of 47 carloads of bad potatoes seized in Boston must have developed in transit was turned aside today by D. F. X. Mahoney, health commissioner of the Hub.

The potatoes, infectid with tuber rot and blight, as well as "hollow heart," were seized in the Boston & Maine freight yard at Charlestown.

Dispatches from Augusta, Me., today quoted Chief Soule as declaring the potatoes to have been thoroughly inspected before shipment and claiming they must have deteriorated on the trip from Aroostook County, Me., to Boston. In answer Dr. Mahoney said:

"If this reports is to be relied upon, it would seem that Mr. Soule is in error.

"Inspection at the Boston terminal discloses a most extensive decomposition from causes which murt haxe existed primarily inthe field: for instance, tuber rot and blight, a condition easily discovered while digging was going on.

"furthermore, some of the potatoes were 'hollow hearts,' a condition developing during growth and not communicable to other potatoes in storage.

"These potatoes were, at least in part, offered for sale and sold in Boston for table use, and numerous complaints were received about them from householders.

"The health department of this city feels that these potatoes affected with blight and tuber rot should have borne a very close inspection at the point of origin nad the unfit products eliminated."

Sues Film Man

CRIES "PLAGIARISM"

Valeska Suratt, who has sued Cecil B. De Mille for plagiarism in his production, "The King of Kings." He quotes the Bible in reply to prove the book "Mary Magdalene," to which she owns film rights, is not plagiarized in his production.

DE MILLE CITES BIBLE IN SUIT

Los Angeles, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Cecil B. De Mille, motion picture producer, turned to the Bible today to answer the suit brought against him in New York by Valeska Suratt, former stage and screen actress, who accused him of plagiarism in the production of "The King of Kings."

"I have always been under the impression that Matthew, Mark, Luke and John were the first to write the story of Christ," said De Mille. "I don't think Valeska Suratt's claims predate them."

Miss Suratt in her suit charged that the film production was plagiarized from the book "Mary Magdalen," by Mirza Ahmed Schrab, of which Miss Suratt owned the motion picture rights.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON QUITS TEA BUSINESS

London, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Sir Thomas Lipton has resigned the chairmanship of his English tea business of Thomas J. Lipton, Ltd., and will hereafter hold the title of honorary life president. Sir John Ferguson has been appointed chairman.

It was announced an agreement has been reached between Lipton, Ltd., and the Meadow Dairy Company, Ltd., whereby the latter concern will be interested in the management of Lipton. Sir John Ferguson will become deputy chairman of the Meadow Dairy Company, while George Beale, chairman of the latter, becomes deputy chairman of Lipton's.

GIRLS LEAP IN FLAMING GARB; FOUR KILLED

London, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Only by a quick jump from the windows of a building into Regent Canal, with their clothes ablaze, did several girls escape death in a fire which killed four of their companions and injured several others.

The fire was in the premises of the Film Waste Products Company, in Redhill street, Regent's Park. It started in a spool winding room and spread rapidly through tons of celluloid, benzine and other inflammable things.

Four girls perished immediately in the fiery blast, others dashed for the stairs while several jumped from windows into the canal, where they were picked up by barges.

A nearby garage caught on fire and nine motor cars were burned.

Daughter Sees Car Kill Father in "El" Station

While standing with his daughter at the outbound street car platform at Maverick station, Morris Addeson, 70, of No. 61 Cottage street, Chelsea, stepped too near to the tracks and was struck by an outbound car of the Gladstone street line. He died an hour later at the East Boston Relief Station from a fractured skull and other injuries.

The police threw a cordon around the area and ordered the inhabitants in neighboring houses to evacuate them until the flames were extinguished.

Breaks Hip in Fall

Mrs. Caroline Marshall, 75, of No. 125 Hillside road, Watertown, fell down a flight of stairs at the Park street station under, and fractured her left hip. She was taken to the Haymarket Relief Station.

BRANDS KLAN AS 'FANATICAL'

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—True representative government has deteriorated through political timidity induced by the bullying of fanatical minority groups such as the Ku Klux Klan, the Anti-Saloon League and their subsidiaries, Attorney General Arthur Gilliom declared in an address here.

"The fear of the political power of these petty group bosses makes timid officials respond to their will and causes many weak politicians and candidates for office to compromise for their support," Gilliom said.

THOUSANDS DELAYED BY CAMBRIDGE CAR TIEUP

Thousands of workers were delayed and cars on the inbound track were tied up during the morning rush hour today when a trolley wire snapped on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, between Lancaster and Arlington streets.

THUG TORTURES MOTHER OF 3

Denver, Colo., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—How she withstood torture for forty-five minutes with a hot iron and a cigarette in the hands of a bandit rather than reveal where $27 was hidden, was told today by Mrs. Andrew Smihula, Denver housewife.

Mrs. Smihula, who is thirty-seven years old and mother of three children, said the bandit applied the iron several times about her arm, head and shoulders and that while he was waiting for it to heat, he burned her with a cigarette.

After forty-five minutes of torture she told him where her savings were hidden. He took the $27 and left.

NURSE HELD IN POISON DEATHS

Enid, Okla., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Mary Atkinson, a nurse, was under arrest today pending an investigation of the sudden deaths of the wife and 18-year-old daughter of the Rev. Charles Bailey, pastor of the Episcopal Church here.

Helen, twin sister of Mary Jane Bailey, who died a week ago, a few days after the death of her mother, is seriously ill, while two other children are recovering from an ailment diagnosed as ptomaine poisoning.

Miss Atkinson was questioned after officers found a package in hr room bearing a poison label, along with several letters signed with the pastor's name.

BETTY ALDEN'S SOCIETY COMMENT

Sports Loving Smart Set in Attendance at Westbury Polo Matches

THE SPORTS-LOVING SMART SET IS ON THE go. With a sporting spectacle of such magnitude as international polo down at Westbury, practically "everyone" is commuting these days between Boston and New York. Those who haven't already gone are going. Taking the "one o'clock" or the "ten o'clock" or the "five o'clock" is the popular pastime for those intent on the big city and the big sports event of the year.

IN THE VANGUARD OF THE FASHIONABLE exodus is to be found, of course, B. Nason Hamlin, who never misses an occasion of the sort. He was off yesterday morning with some boon companions to make a jolly week-end of it at polo and the festivities that ring it round. J. Dudley Clark goes this morning and takes with him "all the family." Both Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Clark have themselves played many a spirited polo match, so their interest in the great international contest is more than that of the mere spectator. They know all the fine points.

MISS CORNELIA CLARK GOES OVER TO THE polo with her devoted pater. So also goes young Nathaniel Clark, who just this year is trying fledgling polo wings, and J. Dudley Clark, Jr. Forrester Clark is one of the family party, and he may be dubbed a polo veteran, having played for years. Young Mr. Forrester Clark it was, so sports fans recall, who rowed with the winning Harvard varsity on the Charles one afternoon, and played winning polo with the Harvard varsity four next afternoon in New York. A lively young athlete is Forrester Clark.

ANOTHER FAMILY TO BE IN THE THRONG at Westbury watching the American contest for international honors with the British Army-in-India team will be the Augustus F. Goodwins of Hamilton and Boston. Good sportsman that he is, Mr. Goodwin moves casually about two continents in pursuit of a favorite pastime, and, of course, Westbury has an attraction not to be denied. Like the Clarks, the Goodwin group will be a large family affair.

NATALIE POTTER
Society girl has been guest of Miss Mary Ames at Newport.

THE QUINCY A. SHAW McKEANS are going to Westbury, so are the John K. Howards. So is "Freddy" Prince. So is W. Cameron Forbes. Mr. Forbes came up from his Summer place at Naushon Island with the express purpose of going over to Westbury for the polo. The Harry Pratt McKeans are going. So are the Frederick Ayers. Miss Eleonora Sears is on the wing. But, that, of course, is to be expected, for Miss Sears is on hand for every major sports event on the calendar, be it in Spring, Summer, Autumn or Winter.

MR. AND MRS. SUMNER PINGREE take in the polo and then stay for the racing at Belmont. The Pingree stables have sent certain fleet-footed entrants to the Belmont course. Mr. and Mrs. Pingree, therefore, have a double interest, with three international polo matches scheduled for the next two weeks and the Grand National Steeplechase to be run at Belmont on the seventh.

BOSTON SOCIETY IN ITS sports loving element finds it necessary to be almost continuously in New York or thereabout. September 16 and 17 at the races, which interest Boston horsemen specially. On the former date Gordon Prince is riding Bashdon for John R. Macomber and Bayard Tuckerman rides Homestead.

OPEN 9 A. M.
Open Every Eve. Till 9 P. M.

COOLIDGE WILL START TONIGHT

Rapid City, S. D., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—A three-months' rest in the woods and mountains at an end, President Coolidge departs late tonight for Washington.

To accommodate the crowd which was expected to see him off, his special train was moved out from the station to a clearing.

Once more crossing the State which has been his host this Summer, Mr. Coolidge reaches Brookings, S. D., early tomorrow, where he will make his only stop to dedicate the Lincoln Memorial Library at the State Agricultural College, and receive a degree of Doctor of Science. He will reach Washington Sunday night.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the order to blow whistles and ring the fire bell was to be obeyed, summoning the bulk of this city's population to Mr. Coolidge's offices where Mayor Jepsen had a speech to make in appreciation of the President's Summer visit. Merchants and factory owners ordered their places closed so that all employes could attend the monster demonstration.

FIRST FROST OF SEASON ANNOUNCED IN WARREN

Springfield, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Sunrise temperature readings in this vicinity today gave a minimum of 36 degrees, only four degrees above actual freezing, and from Warren, east of this city, came the first frost reported this season. The temperature quickly moderated under the sun's influence.

Admiral Bristol Commands

Shanghai, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, former American high commissioner in Turkey, today assumed command of the Asiatic fleet, relieving Rear Admiral Clarence S. Williams.

NAB CAT BANDIT FOR ROBBING 100 WOMEN

Chicago, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—William Mitchell, twenty-seven-year-old department clerk, who said he never drank, smoked, gambled or went to night clubs, was in jail today, self-identified as the "cat bandit" whose depredations have terrorized the North Side for nearly a year.

By day Mitchell was a hard working man, a devoted husband—a "family man" as he expressed it. By night he was the "cat" who preyed entirely upon women, holding them up at the point of a gun, snatching their rings and handbags.

More than 100 holdups are laid at his door, and as many burglaries. He talked freely and said he had no idea of the exact number of robberies he had committed. One of his burglaries was the home of Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman.

Mitchell chose women for victims, he said, because they were not as dangerous as men. Invariably he approached them on an unlighted street, robbed them and then fled down an alley to the next street where he had left his automobile.

His wife, Mrs. Helen Mitchell, has been held and police said she will be charged as an accessory. She said she learned what he was doing a few months ago.

STIRS LEAGUE BY ATTACK ON WAR

Geneva, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Addressing the League of Nations assembly today with the delegates strung to high tension by the attacks of the smaller powers who charge that the league is neglecting to fulfill its mission of political mediation, M. Valdervelde, Belgian Socialist foreign minister, declared amid great applause that he was ready to support adoption of a resolution embodying the memorable utterance of the late Jean Leon Jaures that wars of aggression are a crime against humanity. (Jaures, noted Socialist leader, was assassinated in Paris on July 31, 1914.)

Pleading for unfaltering efforts to the end that reduction of armaments might be achieved, M. Vandervelde in a stentorian voice shouted: "The world must disarm," with the delegates and spectators acclaiming his words with ringing applause.

Poland seems determined to force a clear-cut decision by the league on the question of outlawing war.

Her representatives have submitted a new draft text of a non-aggression pact and have let it be known that if the great powers fail to approve it, Poland will introduce a more drastic one, with the idea of putting the league assembly on record as to whether it desires a genuine anti-war pact or merely a meaningless expression of idealism.

The new draft declares that "every war of aggression is and will be forbidden," and adds:

"The assembly declares that the members of the League of Nations are under obligation to obey this principle, and requests them to negotiate pacts of non-aggression inspired with the idea that pacific means should be employed for the settlement of differences, whatever might be their nature."

NOTED STARS APPEAR IN GLOUCESTER BENEFIT

Ethel Barrymore and Rollo Peters appeared in the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" at Stillington Hall, Gloucester, last evening for the benefit of the American Shakespeare Foundation.

On the same program the American Opera Company, under the direction of Vladimir Rosing, gave "Pagliacci," Frank St. Leger of the Chicago Opera Company conducting.

The proceeds of the performance will be added to the fund being raised in this country for the rebuilding and endowing of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon, destroyed by fire last year. Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern are on the executive committee of the Foundation.

"THE BIG PARADE" WILL REMAIN AT LOEW'S STATE

Due to the fact that Loew's State Theatre has been taxed to capacity all this week, "The Big Parade" will be held over at the State for a second and final week, terminating its popular-priced engagement on Sunday, Sept. 18. "The Big Parade is being shown in its original form with complete music score and stage effects.

"MURRAY HILL" REOPENS AT COPLEY NEXT MONDAY

So insistent have been the requests of the Copley Theatre patrons to see Leslie Howard's comedy success "Murray Hill," that E. E. Clive has arranged for the return of the piece beginning next Monday evening.

LONDON AIRPORT ALIGHT IN VAIN HOPE FOR 'CARLING'

tic route were still combing the sea, at last reports, for some trace of Old Glory or of the rubber lifeboat with which the tree men aboard here were equipped.

William Randolph Hearst, backer of Old Glory's flight, has offered $25,000 to the captain and crew of any vessel finding Bertaud, Hill and Payne.

While hope faded for the safety of Tully and Medcalf in the Sir John Carling as the hours passed without a report of their being sighted, the flying field at Croydon was kept brilliantly illuminated all night.

GAS EXHAUSTED

Estimates as to length of time their gasoline supply would last they were still in the air varied, but the most optimistic did not extend beyond 4 o'clock this morning, London time, or 10 P. M., Eastern standard.

Flying conditions over the British Isles were described as wretched, and even the pilots of the Imperial Airways and Dutch Royal Air Service were compelled by wind, clouds and rain to descend before reaching Croydon.

Fate seems to have pursued the male members of the Tully family. Of Captain Terry Tully's three brothers, one was killed in the World War, another died suddenly from a heart affection, and the third lost his life in a motor accident.

SWUNG SOUTH

The possibility that Old Glory may have swung to the south of the great circle has been presented with the disclosure by Myles Stedman, first officer of the liner Leviathan, that Bertaud planned to fly directly for Bordeaux, France, from St. John's, instead of following the great circle. Stedman thinks the search for the fliers should be shifted about 150 miles to the south of the area already covered.

Hope Wanes for Old Glory Crew on Rubber Raft

New York, Sept. 9 (I.N.S.).—One single ray of hope—that a flimsy rubber liferaft could withstand the pounding of the mid-ocean waves—flickered today as three ocean liners continued a futile search of the sea, 500 miles east of Newfoundland for some trace of the monoplane Old Glory, which left Old Orchard, Me., shortly after noon Tuesday on an attempt to fly to Rome.

With no trace of the plane reported, hope was almost abandoned that Lloyd Bertaud, James De Witt Hill and Philip A. Payne, occupants of Old Glory on her ill-fated flight, could possibly be found alive.

Even the most optimistic conceded that Old Glory herself could no longer be afloat on the turbulent waves on which she is believed to have crashed a few minutes after sending out a frantic S O S call. The one hope is fading that the men were on the rubber raft, and are still floating or have been picked up by some merchant vessel unequipped with wireless.

Relatives of Tully and Medcalf Still Keep Watch

London, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—While near relatives of aviators Tully and James Medcalf were keeping an anxious watch, hoping against hope for news that the airplane Sir John Carling would yet be reported on its flight from London, Ont., to London Eng., there was total absence of news here of the machine having been sighted at any point.

Croydon officials maintained a night-long vigil, and searchlights and flares were kept going in the faint hope that the Carling might have struggled close to her destination without being sighted elsewhere.

KING SCOOTS ON U. S. TOY

If you were King would your most treasured possession be an American toy? Perhaps! King Mike, the "royal kid" of Rumania, gets more pleasure out of the scooter his grandma, Queen Marie, bought for him in her American tour than out of anything else he owns.

V. F. W. WOULD LIST ALIENS

Providence, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—An aftermath of the naturalization controversy resulting yesterday in the 28th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars approving the report of Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief Milburn R. Gregory, of Reno, charging Secretary of Labor Davis with obstructing investigation of naturalization frauds, came today, when the encampment adopted a resolution urging annual registration of aliens.

The convention also adopted resolutions assailing Communistic and radical propaganda and urging prosecution of offenders. The resolutions also condemn a questionnaire of the sociology department of Smith College in which the girl students are required to answer personal questions.

EXPERT WARNS LEVINE NOT TO FLY HOME

London, Sept. 9.—Emphatic warning not to attempt to fly the airplane Columbia across the Atlantic this year was given today to Charles A. Levine, owner of the plane, by T. Harold "Doc" Kincade, American aeronautical expert.

The warning provided a dramatic incident on the platform at Waterloo station immediately before Kincade's departure for Southampton, where he was to embark for the United States.

Levine and others, including a number of newspaper reporters, were at the station to bid Kincade goodby.

"I am undismayed by anything that has happened on the Atlantic," Levine told Kincade, "and I tell you I shall make this flight the minute word comes from Captain Hinchcliffe."

"Then you will go without my O. K.," Kincade shot back, emphatically. "I have given you no certificate of air-worthiness for the Columbia. She isn't fit to face what I tell you is coming to her if you start out so late in the season."

Turning then to the reporters Kincade said:

"I want it clearly understood that I refuse to have the lives of these two men on my hands. Levine should pack up and go home."

Levine again postponed his proposed flight today because of bad weather.

DEPARTING VETS PAY TRIBUTE TO WAR DEAD

Washington, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Leading officials of the American Legion, as their last act before embarking for the Paris convention today, engaged in a ceremony of tribute to America's World War dead when National Commander Howard P. Savage was designated to place half of a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery. The other portion of the wreath will be laid on the Unknown Soldier's grave at Paris.

Miss Elder and Haldeman said they planned to spend two days at Lakeland after which they would proceed to Wheeling, W. Va., for a short stop.

The transatlantic take-off will be made from Roosevelt Field probably next Thursday or Friday, Miss Elder said.

"Sure I Can Make Hop to Europe," Says Miss Elder

Detroit, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—The many perils besetting the intrepid aviators who would fly the Atlantic Ocean do not distress Miss Ruth Elder, the [illegible] of the Stinson Detroiter plane "The American Girl" which hopped off from the Ford Airport at dawn today for Tampa, Fla.

"I'm sure sorry for those boys who [illegible] the flight," Miss Elder said as she prepared to climb into the cabin of the plane. "But I am certain Mr. Haldeman (George W. Haldeman) and I are going to make the [illegible] safely. We have our hearts set on this flight and really we are not letting anybody discourage us. When we reach New York we are going to take the hop and make it sure."

Asked if she would help pilot the [illegible] she quickly replied: "I sure [illegible]." The plane is fitted with dual controls.

As Miss Elder prepared for the takeoff in the slowly brightening [illegible] of dawn she smiled happily [illegible] the hands of the few reporters and fewer spectators who waited the [illegible] of the motor in the great [illegible] plane. Her hand was firm [illegible] more certain than [illegible]

With a wave of her hand she [illegible] to the plane, the motor roared and after a [illegible] on the level field of the airport the plane ran down the [illegible] to disappear in the [illegible] mists hanging low in the sky.

POPE REMARKS YOUTHFULNESS OF WALKER

Rome, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—In an aud[illegible] today Mayor [illegible] for New York [illegible] Mrs. Walker [illegible] Governor [illegible] Swiss Guards stood [illegible] in full [illegible] and [illegible] of New York's "Old Guard."

IN POPE'S LIBRARY.

Mayor Walker and his companions [illegible] the Pope's private [illegible] elaborate ceremony.

The Pope was dressed entirely in [illegible] Mrs. Walker [illegible] the Pope's [illegible] the Mayor [illegible] young man [illegible] city [illegible] as young as [illegible] mayor [illegible] New York [illegible] the mayor responded [illegible]

POPE PRESENTS MEDAL.

At the conclusion of the audience the Pope presented Mayor Walker [illegible] medal and Mrs. Walker a beautiful amethyst rosary [illegible]

[illegible]

Mayor [illegible] and other members of the Mayor's party, all kneeling to kiss the Pope's hand while he addressed them kindly.

"It was the most [illegible] experience of my life," declared Mayor Walker as he left the Vatican. "The Holy Father's interest in and knowledge of New York is remarkable [illegible] America [illegible]."

Mrs. Walker wore the conventional black gown required when women are received in audience by the Pope. It was of satin and crepe [illegible], the black mantilla adding a becoming touch.

The men of the party wore formal evening dress with the exception of waistcoats which were of black instead of the usual white.

JUDGE GIVES HIM TEN MINUTES—HE PAYS

Charged with failing to pay three men who had done some work for him, Lorne Hazen of Grove st., Somerville, was given ten minutes to pay them in East Cambridge District Court today. After [illegible] the full ten minutes, Hazen paid the amount in question, $38.75, and an additional $5 for court costs. Judge Arthur P. Stone rebuked him [illegible] for not paying the workmen and called the incident a "flim [illegible]."

Renominates Terhune

The nominating committee of the B[illegible] Square and Compass Club [illegible] list for action at the annual meeting October 8 renominates W[illegible] L. Terhune, for president.

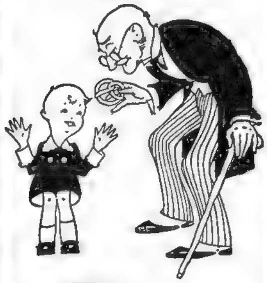
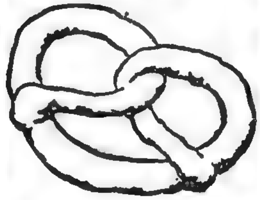
Bite yourself an Alphabet





And they're both ardent pretzeleers

Back in '73 Grandpa was the pretzel biting champion of Kokono County—and he's still good. He can bite straight through the alphabet without spoiling a single pretzel. Bobby can already make a "B" in a single bite, but he's apt to leave rough edges on his "Q's."

In a statement recently bitten for the press, Grandpa said: "Uneeda Bakers' pretzels are

"Pretzels today are better than ever. Crispier than the kind we had when Grant was president. Crunchier and more brittle than even those of the Garfield-Arthur period. And the saltytaste is what I call salty."

The Golden Age of pretzels is here. People are eating O-So-Gud Pretzels every chance they get. Before you go to bed—great. With ginger ale—fine. With soup, salad or dessert—nothing smackier. For children in between meals.

Easy to digest? Yes. And remember—O-So-Gud is the name. Why so good? Because they're made by the Uneeda Bakers.

OFFERS SCOUTS PLACE IN BEACH LINE TONIGHT

The Boy Scouts of Greater Boston are invited to join in the great [illegible] Pageant which will be tonight's Carnival Week program feature at Revere Beach.

Colonel H. D. Comerais of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, chief of staff of the [illegible], has [illegible] the Boston Evening American [illegible] scout representation in the line of march.

"Our parade is going to be one of the great features of Carnival Week," he said. "In order to make [illegible] we would [illegible] at least 200 Boy Scouts with their colors. The scouts always [illegible] [illegible] that is attained by the [illegible] of the physical and [illegible] mental [illegible]. They [illegible] their own and strike [illegible] a lesson too. We will welcome the Scouts."

The parade will form at [illegible] Circle at the end of the [illegible], at about 8:00 o'clock. The scouts who are to participate are asked to report to either Colonel Comerais or Marshal Ridgway, at the Circle between 8 and 8:20 o'clock.

DAWES SPEEDS VETS ON WAY

New York, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Vice-President Charles G. Dawes arrived today to bid the American Legion bon voyage on its [illegible] ship, the [illegible], which sails for France tomorrow. He will address the Legionnaires at a dinner on the liner [illegible], and planned to return to his home at Evanston, Ill., tomorrow.

The vice president wore his famous underslung pipe and was in the best of humor. He declined to discuss [illegible] [illegible] guest of a [illegible] organization. He received a number of friends in his [illegible] [illegible].

"Everything Free," K. C. Sign Greets Legion in Paris

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—When the Legionnaires reach France and start to look around for familiar signs, one of the first they will see will be the "Everybody welcome—everything free" of the Knights of Columbus, it was announced at the headquarters of the order here today.

The order is sending 75 of the war-time secretaries to France and they will distribute cigarettes, soft drinks and toilet supplies free just as they did during the world war. "Huts" are being erected in Paris where the ex-doughboys can drop in and renew old friendships.

It is planned to send over two secretaries on each boat.

BOSTON TRADE OPTIMISTIC

R. G. Dun & Co. Weekly Trade Review in this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston:

With the opening of the Fall season there has come a more optimistic feeling, and although the policy of purchasing for immediate requirements is being adhered to as far as possible, orders are coming in a little more freely.

Sales of the Massachusetts department stores for July were 4 per cent [illegible] for July, 1926, but August [illegible] record for August, 1926. The unfavorable weather conditions, however, interfered to a greater degree with the smaller stores, and results have not been so good.

Wholesale [illegible] decrease [illegible] per cent for July but the New England wholesale concerns were 12 per cent [illegible]

Production of boots and shoes increased 3 per cent in New England during July and [illegible] gain from the country as a whole. Hides are scarce in the local market as tanners are beginning to purchase [illegible]

There is a steady call for cement and brick, but New England building lumber is slow and prices are weak. The hardwood demand is showing signs of improvement. Paints are seasonably active. Turpentine is firmer. Wool [illegible] is more active, and the market is strengthening. Fine papers are selling well and the mills are moderately busy.

Freshly laid spring eggs come to the Cold Storage warehouse in refrigerator cars which keep them in perfect condition while in transit.

In our warehouse eggs are kept in a uniform temperature of 30½ degrees. This temperature prevents deterioration.

Better grocers sell Cold Storage eggs. Look for the sign—the Mark of a Good Egg in grocers' windows.

The FACTS about COLD STORAGE EGGS

MADAM, when you decide to serve Cold Storage eggs—yes, at your table—your egg problems are solved.

No longer need you worry about the quality of the eggs you buy—you'll know in advance that they will be good eggs—and that they will satisfy you in every way. Furthermore, they will save you money.

Here are the reasons why those statements are true. After you have read them, test them by trying a dozen Cold Storage eggs—today.

Laid in the spring-time

Of course you know that in the spring months, when nature is fresh and blooming, the best eggs of the entire year are laid. Hens then are at their best.

And the eggs that come from them are big and full-flavored—filled with all the delicious and nutritive qualities that make a good egg the ideal food product of nature.

Refrigeration keeps them "spring" eggs

What a treat it is to be able to enjoy such eggs at this season of the year—when the hens are "stingy"—when new-laid eggs are scarce and expensive!

Refrigeration makes that treat possible. In the spring-time, the finest eggs of the year are cheap and plentiful. The "pick" of these eggs are chosen for Cold Storage and rushed to the warehouses in refrigerator cars.

On arrival, they are placed by themselves under refrigeration at a uniform temperature of 30½ degrees. This prevents deterioration—keeps them up to their original quality.

Refrigeration prevents egg famine

Were it not for the service rendered by Cold Storage warehouses, people would at certain times go egg-hungry.

Eggs would be so scarce and the demand so great as to force prices up so high that few could afford them.

But, as a result of scientific refrigeration, eggs purchased at cheap spring-time prices, and kept by refrigeration at their original spring-time quality, are sold to you by your grocer at prices surprisingly low.

Pick Madge Bellamy for New Fox Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—This vogue of using the name of a city for a title seems to have invaded the movies as well as the stage. Madge Bellamy, whose evolution from a soulful-eyed, curly-haired ingenue to a bobbed hair flapper is one of the seven wonders of the world, will appear in "Atlantic City."

Let me explain. By Atlantic City I mean the [illegible] a play [illegible] city built on the ocean. I [illegible] even know whether Madge wears a bathing suit, but I suspect that is one of the reasons for giving the Fox [illegible] this role.

Arthur [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] So far the [illegible] other member of [illegible] is Lloyd [illegible] [illegible].

HOLLYWOOD [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] book "Black Ivory" [illegible] [illegible] screen [illegible] Warner Brothers [illegible] Broadway [illegible] [illegible] a new novel written in movie's own [illegible].

[illegible] I believe there is an operetta [illegible] here. Yours is a great [illegible] especially when it has the [illegible] of this young Banks [illegible] best [illegible] particularly about [illegible].

PROBABLY Frank Lloyd's experience with John Barrymore [illegible] not to work [illegible] Lloyd had a number of bad breaks the past year, first at Famous Players-Lasky, where his pictures did not turn out so well, then later when he joined United Artists.

He and John Barrymore just did not [illegible] on the treatment of "The Tempter," the next Barrymore picture, and after weeks of [illegible] and argument Lloyd withdrew from the picture. He now [illegible] is going on a hunting trip in [illegible] and will not start work for Fox until after the first of the [illegible].

I SUPPOSE we shall soon hear of [illegible] in picture bids being made [illegible] "Burlesque." That play is [illegible] motion picture material [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] more [illegible] ask [illegible] happened to [illegible] James Kirkwood the night I attended the performance applauding so vigorously I know he enjoyed it.

Jim, by the by, tells me he may open in New York in a vaudeville sketch. It is a long time since he has been in the big city. His wife, Lila Lee, did not make the trip with him because she has just joined the Duffy Players in Los Angeles and is appearing in a new stage play there.

ERICH POMMER, who never leaves anyone in doubt as to what he thinks or believes, has been [illegible] with United Artists. There is a rumor that Mr. Pommer may go back to Germany to direct pictures for United Artists. You remember, he came over here originally to supervise Emil Jannings' productions and when he and Mr. Jannings failed to agree he went to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

A TELEGRAM from Estelle Taylor from Chicago mentions that she is expecting many of her friends for the fight in Chicago. Estelle will probably be the only one of the Hollywood contingent who will not watch the Dempsey-Tunney bout at Soldiers Field.

I am getting my pencils sharpened and my adjectives in working order ready to do a story on the fight. I promised Estelle I would look her up, but this time she will have to get somebody else to stay with her during the time that Jack is in the ring.

EX-KING OF GREECE, RICH NOW, WANTS JOB BACK

Bucharest, Rumania, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—Now that he is again supplied with funds, George II, former King of Greece, is credited with the intention of seeking to regain the throne from which he was ejected by the revolutionists in December, 1923.

Until the death of King Ferdinand of Rumania, George and his royal consort, Elizabeth, received only $10,000 a year. Now they have $[illegible] bequeathed to them by Ferdinand, Elizabeth's father, and friends say they intend to begin an active campaign to regain the throne.

George, who is known to be in frequent touch with influential Greeks in Athens, is quoted as saying [illegible] "The Greek people will soon sicken of revolutionary leaders and call me back.

"I hold myself at the service of the Greek people. I am sure that any plebiscite if honestly conducted would show that the people want a monarchy."

B. & M. APPROVES SALE OF $30,942,500 BONDS

TAKE $1,000 IN ANTIQUE LOOT

Newburyport, Sept. 9—The second antique robbery within two days and the eighth here in the last three months was discovered today when it was found the residence of Nathan D. Rodgers at No. 7 Prospect street had been entered. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] were [illegible] them.

AUTOIST APPEALS WHEN FINED $100 IN COURT

Frank A. Mac[illegible] of W[illegible] street, Newton, was fined $100 today in Brighton court after being found guilty of operating an automobile in a manner leading to endanger the lives and safety of the public. He appealed the fine. Mac[illegible] was operating an automobile on Commonwealth avenue, Allston, on August 31 when it struck and slightly injured Mrs. Sadie Burns of Glenville avenue and her two-year-old son Arthur, who were crossing the avenue.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 1. Declarer counts his possible losers as two Hearts, one Diamond, and one trump, four tricks, leaving him one short of game. A successful finesse in trumps, or the dropping of the Queen in two rounds, would produce the extra trick, but not to be dependent upon the success of one or other of these plays, he plans to discard a losing Heart by holding up the Ace of Diamonds and finessing the Jack on the second round of the suit.

Trick 2. The presence of the Ace and Jack of Diamonds in Dummy, as well as his partner's play of the 3, preclude continuance of the Diamond suit, so West shifts to the logical lead of the Jack of Clubs through Dummy's King.

Trick 4. Declarer takes his Heart discard, the fall of the cards [illegible] that he can safely [illegible].

Trick 5. Declarer takes the trump finesse [illegible] of game [illegible] finesse [illegible] trumps [illegible] once and finessed instead of [illegible] making provision for the discard of a Heart. West would have held up his Queen of trumps on the first round and on the second round, noting the high Heart that East would discard, would, upon getting in with his Diamonds, have immediately led a Heart instead of a Club, thereby saving game.

HUNDREDS MAROONED BY FLOOD IN UTAH

Price, Utah, Sept. 9 (A. P.)—Hundreds of persons were marooned in central Utah today following two days of heavy rains that left transportation systems crippled, flooded numerous mines and [illegible]. Eight bridges and a section of roadbed were washed out on the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, leaving eight passenger trains stalled.

CHORUS GIRL ATTEMPTS LIFE WITH RAZOR BLADE

New York, Sept. 9 (A. P.)—Discouraged because she was unable to get work, Alice Agnew, a chorus girl, attempted suicide today by slashing her throat and arm with a safety razor blade. She will probably recover, physicians at Bellevue Hospital said.

Miss Agnew, who is 21 years old, appeared recently in "Queen High." Her home is in Mercer, Pa.

Simplicity Marks Funeral of Mrs. Lawrence; Flowers Massed About Coffin

With the simplest and most informal service the Episcopal church affords, the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Lawrence, wife of Bishop William Lawrence, was conducted today at St. Paul's Cathedral.

The simplicity surrounding the service was at Bishop Lawrence's request.

Because St. Paul's is undergoing renovation and the altar had been removed, it was necessary to erect a temporary altar in front of the main position.

This was massed in flowers [illegible] casket was borne into the [illegible] edifice by nine pall bearers, nephews of Mrs. Lawrence, and placed in the aisle.

The nine bearers, who also acted as ushers, were:

Augustus Hemenway, Jr., Lawrence Hemenway, John S. Lawrence, Dr. Augustus Thorndike, Jr., George C. Cunningham, Francis Cunningham, Alan Cunningham, Sidney Cunningham and Lawrence Saltonstall.

Officiating at the services were the Rev. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of Groton School and a relative of Mrs. Lawrence; Rev. [illegible] K. Sherill, rector of Trinity Church; Dean P. F. Sturges, St. Paul's Cathedral; Bishop Samuel G. Babcock, Suffragan Bishop of Massachusetts, and the Rev. A. McL. Taylor of Mattapan.

Arthur Phelps, organist, accompanied the [illegible] "Lord Let Me Know Mine End." By the congregation the following hymns were sung:

No. 176, "Jesus Lives"; No. 236, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is"; No. 4[illegible], "Peace, Perfect Peace," and No. 295, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest."

'MISS BOSTON' IN FINALS

ONE OF 15 WHO MAY BE "MISS AMERICA"

Ethel Beatrice Le Pierre, "Miss Boston," in the Atlantic City beauty pageant to select a "Miss America, 1927," is one of the fair contestants remaining in the finals tonight when the beauty queen of the nation will be crowned.

MAY BUILD BIG HALL IN BACK BAY

Mayor Considering Yards at Boylston Street for Hub Convention Building

The new $5,000,000 auditorium for Boston may be located on the site of the railroad yards at Boylston and Exeter streets, it was learned today.

Mayor Nichols and his experts are [illegible] to be considering the large site, which is in walking distance of the Back Bay, Huntington [illegible] Railroad stations and the Back Bay subway stations [illegible].

This site has approximately [illegible] square feet of land [illegible] under the [illegible].

ASK FOR $5,000,000 LOAN.

Mayor Nichols will present to the new Legislature a loan bill for the $5,000,000 necessary for the auditorium.

He has, in the past months, held formal luncheons with business [illegible] and some hay and lumber sheds are the only structures upon or abutting the railroad yards.

It is also not certain as to whether or not this yard was given to the [illegible] by the State 100 years ago [illegible].

ASSESSED FOR $12,000,000.

The entire site [illegible] by Boylston and Exeter streets [illegible] assessed [illegible] $1[illegible] in excess of as [illegible].

If the auditorium should be built on this site it would cross from the assessors' books a large amount of tax [illegible] city, but this could [illegible] by rentals of the [illegible].

An auditorium seating some 40,000 persons could take care of any sort of [illegible] or exhibition.

MAKE HUB CONVENTION CITY.

Not only this but it would bring Boston to the front as a convention and exposition city, it is argued, especially because of its historic points of interest.

According to the assessors' books at City hall the railroad yard is divided into two sections. There is a 430,304 square foot lot, on the Boylston street side, which is assessed at $4,8[illegible] and the lot of 616,000 square feet with the right of way tracks of the railroad on the Mechanics Building side, is assessed at $3,74[illegible].

Mechanics Building, which is held by the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association [illegible] taxes is made [illegible].

Story of a Girl Who Did Just What She Chose and Then Took Flight

Emily Duane, care-free and wealthy leader of the young set, disappears on the eve of her wedding to Rodney Sayre, scion of old New England family. She had rushed from her wedding rehearsal with Polly Pennington to visit Mrs. Kitty Laurence in the maternity hospital. They never reached the hospital, Jim Pennington later told a worried nuptial party. Polly was found dead at the botttom of a ravine. Where was Emily?

Emily's cultivation of mysticism, then the fad, and the exclusion of her teacher, Swami Lal Singh, from her will upon her marriage, directed first suspicion toward the Hindu. Detective Fleming Stone, engaged by Sayre to pierce the mystery, found his first tangible clew in New York. Emily is found unconscious in a hospital—fright shocked, the nurse said. While police hint at her arrest for murdering Polly Pennington, Stone hurries to New York again hot on another clew.

CHAPTER 26

FLEMING STONE stopped at the hospital on his way to Boston to [illegible] and asked for Doctor [illegible] for the nurse who had [illegible] Emily during the early [illegible].

"You see, [illegible] detective said, "our [illegible] are well [illegible]. I don't know where Emily has been kept these six days, but [illegible] who kept her captive [illegible] how she got out, and [illegible] know [illegible] she or [illegible]."

[illegible] few moments [illegible] the nurse they had [illegible].

"Has Miss [illegible] said anything [illegible]?"

"Nothing [illegible]," she replied. "But she [illegible] a great deal. Most of it is [illegible] of no sense at all. But one [illegible] continually [illegible] is always asking for a pen but given either a pen or pencil, she cannot use them. She makes meaningless marks on the paper and then throws them down. And she says over and over double you. Whether she means the letter W, or what she means I don't know. But it's ever [illegible] I'd give you, and once, she said clearly, 'Remember double you!' and then she went off into unconsciousness again."

"Thank you," Stone said, speaking so [illegible] that the nurse stared.

He went off to Boston and thence to New York, looking very much [illegible].

But the watchers by Emily's bedside were not elated. There were moments when they thought she was really coming back to her normal senses, and then the next instant, she would be screaming in hysteria.

Stone telephoned home afterward that he would remain in New York

HOLY CROSS OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Barring Injuries, O'Donnell Has High Hopes of Big Year

By STED CHANDLER

Worcester, Sept. 9.—"I don't see any good reason, barring injuries, why Holy Cross won't have one of the best teams of recent years this Fall."

This announcement came from Head Coach [illegible]

[illegible] the general [illegible] team. But Ryan and S[illegible] both back in good [illegible] of the [illegible] are a number of [illegible] varsity players among [illegible] up from last year's freshman team.

LOSE ONLY FOUR MEN.

"Only four first string men are lost, Captain B[illegible] Wise, [illegible]terback, Pat [illegible] end, Henry [illegible] and [illegible]. The last two named were [illegible] when they [illegible] developed only [illegible] and I wish I had [illegible] was only [illegible] diploma and he [illegible] football left in him.

"Among the new men [illegible] there are several who starred at [illegible] of Sanborn Academy who didn't play [illegible] ball is a fast versatile back. Stewart [illegible] another [illegible] from St. [illegible] looks good. He was [illegible] captain last year. [illegible] of Philadelphia is another speedy halfback, and [illegible] from South [illegible], who I think will develop [illegible] sub this year. In the [illegible] best men seem to be Marks [illegible] from Lynn and [illegible] from [illegible] players.

"The schedule this year [illegible] hard, [illegible] through [illegible] St. John's, [illegible] University, [illegible] Catholic University, [illegible] Fordham, Marquette, Boston [illegible] Vermont and [illegible]. They're not easy [illegible]. I think [illegible] will be doing [illegible] this year, if they give any sort of [illegible]fence. They had a stubborn defense and a hard-fighting team when they beat us last year.

"We [illegible] last year, but [illegible] collapsed and [illegible] Rutgers men [illegible] better than Washington [illegible] Ferson. I hope [illegible] stage early this Fall and [illegible] stick there."

DALEY SEEKS MAN FOR B. C. QUARTER

If Leo Daley can find a quarter back among his sixty varsity candidates at Boston College the Eagles will be well on their way towards a better [illegible] eleven.

Although the school has been out but [illegible] days Daley has a [illegible]. Every [illegible] with the exception of Al Weston, is [illegible].

Weston is now engaged in the [illegible] World Series of the Twilight League. He is the main works in the South Boston nine and will [illegible] and a few days absence from practice [illegible] football [illegible].

And when Weston shows up there [illegible]

[illegible] McKenney proved [illegible] one of the best [illegible] McKenney was [illegible] that must be [illegible].

DALEY ON LOOKOUT.

[illegible] McKenney [illegible] any one of the candidates who even show the sign of being a [illegible]

[illegible] High and [illegible] heads up director [illegible] eleven. He didn't have a chance to break into the varsity last [illegible] with McKenney and [illegible] hanging around, but Coach [illegible] thought him too valuable a man to be dropped from the squad. Ben heaves a smart forward pass and can drop-kick with the best at the Heights.

CREEDON CALLS SIGNALS.

Creedon is being tried out at the vacant berth. [illegible] knows football from the inside and has a good head. He may be used in signal calling [illegible] Daley shows [illegible] ability to direct the team. Creedon will return to halfback.

Daley is giving most of his time to conditioning his squad and keeping an eye on [illegible] for the much sought quarterback. The squad will take a four mile hike each morning before donning the togs. The course starts at the Heights down to [illegible] and around the Reservoir twice to the [illegible].

Jackie Maloney, who has more than his share of pep, leads the boys and sets a fast clip. Daley has the boys running under a rope held about four feet from the ground. This gives the boys the knack of running close to the ground and has proved a fine conditioner for his past high school elevens.

KERRY AND GALWAY TO PLAY GAELIC FOOTBALL

Kerry and Galway battling for the lead in the Gaelic Football League will meet Sunday afternoon at Brighton. Galway is now in front with four points to its credit, while Kerry, with two points in its favor is in second place.

Tipperary and the Lynn Juniors meet in a preliminary game. The first game starts at 3 o'clock.

Sande Suffering From Gallstones

Belmont Park, Sept. 9.—Trouble comes in bunches. Following Jockey Earl Sande's recent bereavement, the death of his wife, which left the peerless rider in a prostrate condition comes the report from his physician that he is suffering from gallstones. The direct cause is attributed to the shock of his wife's death.

To followers and [illegible] the turf world the news of his latest affliction is received with much regret.

Latest word, however, is to the effect that Earl will resume riding as soon as discharged from the doctor's care, which should be in about ten days.

Pro Tennis Title Tourney Sept. 23

New York, Sept. 9.—America's first professional lawn tennis championship will be held at the Notlek tennis courts Sept. 23, 24 and 25. Among the stars who will compete will be Vincent Richards, Howard Kinsey, Paul Heston, Charles Haggett, Charlie Wood, Warren Kruger and John Cardena. Several cups and $3,000 in cash prizes will be awarded.

INDIANS CAN'T WITHSTAND SOX FIGHT

Continuing their ability to fight back, the Red Sox will take another [illegible] Cleveland Indians this [illegible] at Fenway Park.

Coming from behind is one of the best things Carrigan's men do. In the three games they dropped to the [illegible] New York Yankees the Red Sox [illegible] the league leaders all the way.

It is this everlasting up hill fighting that is endearing the Carrigan players to the Boston fans. These young chaps Bill has under his wing don't know when they are beaten.

In the opening Cleveland game was ample proof of this. The Indians apparently had the Sox put away, 7 to 3, when the Carrigan clan showed their teeth and rallied to grab off the game, 10 to 5.

ONE of those old time pitching duels is on the card for tomorrow [illegible] the speed king of the Sox staff, opposes George Uhle of the Cleveland team. These twirlers rate with the top notchers of the league and matching them in a special battle should attract a fine Saturday crowd.

This duel recalls the old Johnson-Wood battle of years ago when Smoky Joe nosed out Peerless Walter 1 to 0, when Danny Moeller dropped a fly in right field to let in the only run of the game.

DUNDEE NOT IN CONDITION; POSTPONE BOUT FOR WEEK

New York, Sept. 9.—"I ain't in condition and I won't fight." That was Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, speaking.

Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston, of the Coney Island Stadium, had the veteran Scotch Wop signed for the feature bout at the seaside arena against Ray Mitchell, and spent all of yesterday trying to induce Johnny to go through with the bout.

As a result Mr. Johnston's show will not come off tonight. It will be presented exactly one week later.

TUNNEY ENJOYS ANOTHER DAY OF REST

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Gene Tunney decided today that he would not box after all and would give his injured right eye at least another day to heal properly.

The respite marked the third day the heavyweight champion has rested since Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis light heavyweight, opened a cut on Gene's eyelid in a sparring session Tuesday. Tunney would not say when he planned to pull on the 16-ounce training gloves again although it appeared probable that workouts would be resumed tomorrow.

Gene is not disturbed by the break in training and scoffs at Jack Dempsey's [illegible] of [illegible] for the injured eye in their return battle at Soldiers Field September 22.

[illegible]

The [illegible] party that [illegible] the leadership of [illegible] others came into camp with two new [illegible] today. They were [illegible] light heavyweight, and Jacko Williams, 185-pounder colored [illegible] possessing a sterling punch in his right mitt. Both will be given tryouts when the training grind is resumed.

Tunney played eighteen holes of golf as a training stunt yesterday. He was accompanied by Eddie Egan of Denver, a former captain of the Yale boxing team and Rhodes scholar. Road work was omitted for the day.

Munn Works Out With Columbia

New York, Sept. 9.—Charley Crowley, Columbia football coach, is a disillusioned man today. Noticing a candidate yesterday who stood head and shoulders above the other Columbia gridiron warriors both in stature and ability, he investigated and soon was convinced that he had discovered the football marvel of the age. Crowley singled out the giant and demanded his name.

"Monte Munn," replied the candidate.

Monte Munn, now a professional boxing star, formerly was the crack player of the University of Nebraska eleven. He explained to the crestfallen Crowley that he had been watching practice and "couldn't resist the chance to handle a football."

WALLACE STOPS GORDON IN THREE ROUNDS

Philadelphia, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Billy Wallace, Cleveland, stopped Al Gordon, Philadelphia, in the third round of their ten-round bout last night with a series of punches to the head and body.

The first two rounds were slow and about even. Wallace opened the third with a rush, forced his opponent against the ropes and doubled him up with a stiff right to the jaw.

Boston University Loses Veteran End Wright

Boston University's football hopes received its first blow today when it was learned that Joe Wright, veteran end, will not be able to play this year.

Much was expected from Wright as he is one of the best ends the college ever had. Outside business affiliations, however, make football playing impossible for Wright this year.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"THIS Roy Mitchell, the colored light heavyweight sensation from Nova Scotia, has mastered one of the boxing tricks of Abe Attell," chirped Mr. Boston today. "I got my first peek at Mitchell when he recently flattened Tex McEwan at the Arena," went on the veteran. "I knew he was the pugilistic goods before that bout as he had knocked most of his opponents bow-legged.

"Mitchell boxes like Attell when it comes to watching his opponent's feet instead of his head and arms. The former featherweight champion seldom looked straight at the bimbo whom he was out to hand a plastering to. He would keep his eyes on the other fellow's feet.

"'I can always tell what a boxer is going to do if I know the position of his feet,' Attell once told me. 'When in certain positions it is possible only to land particular punches.'

"When Mitchell boxed McEwan he started watching his feet the minute the gong sounded for the opening of the first round. And while watching the Philadelphian's feet, he knocked him [illegible] to the chin.

"Mitchell will receive an opportunity to try his art against [illegible] when he clashes with Mike Burke of New York in the semi-final of [illegible] to the Mello-Brown [illegible] show at the Arena on next Monday night.

"[illegible] used to knock up around Hanover with Eddie Shevlin. I never heard of [illegible] handling Mike any honorable [illegible] there's plenty of [illegible] to the chins of the [illegible] of the boxing class at the Big Green College.

He battled under the same colors as Stanley Ketchel and, if necessary, will swear on a [illegible] that the Assassin could have knocked over a ring full of the present crop of fighters.

"Burns at one time acted as trainer for Jack Dempsey. At the time Dempsey was battering his way along the [illegible].

"Burns tells an interesting story of how Dempsey, like other boxers, had his [illegible] of discouragement.

"'One day Dempsey came into the gym to work and he was ready to toss up the sponge,' said Burns. '[illegible] he didn't think he could fight and that he was seriously [illegible] regular [illegible]. It [illegible] him to stick to the [illegible] I was [illegible] with Dempsey [illegible].'"

"JUST now [illegible] is busy grooming Mitchell for a [illegible] title.

"'Mitchell's the best of them [illegible],' said Burns. 'Tiger Flowers has gained considerable fame but he's only a [illegible]. A fellow like Mitchell would knock Flowers out inside of three rounds.

"'Mitchell comes from the same part of Nova Scotia that developed Sam Langford and Joe Walcott. He has mastered the same kind of a powerful sock that enabled these two [illegible] to fly to the pugilistic heights.

"'After Mitchell polishes off Mike Burke I'll toss him in with the best heavyweight Tom Goodwin can dig up.'"

OLD SOL IS WITH US AGAIN AFTER AN EXTENDED VACATION

JAZZ BAND IN TIGER'S LAIR

Six Gentlemen Receive Slug From Dempsey With Words and Music

Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill., Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey resumed his muscular education after two days of repose. He began to train in private for his forthcoming board of directors' meeting with Gene Tunney at the Soldiers Field leather exchange bank the night of September 22.

On that evening the two young millionaires will declare an extra dividend on heavyweight common.

While Dempsey was slinging knuckles toward a motley crew of sparring partners, his opponent was permitting a cut eye to heal over at a cedar crest country club. The so-called private workout of Dempsey was attended by nearly 800 men, women and Dave Shade's pet goat. Majestic privacy is the same sort that the Duke of Wellington had at Waterloo.

Leo P. Flynn, who was known as the Tod Sloan of fight managers until he mistook the car for a saddle a few days ago, handed his boy Dempsey a new one in the way of mental stimulus.

He had a jazz band of twenty pieces in the grandstand of the Lincoln Fields race course when Jack jogged out to the punching platform on the lawn.

It seems that Flynn had heard about the powers of divine song to sandpaper the savage breast. However, the performance of the gentleman who sounded a toccsin on the saxtone horn was strangely reminiscent of those Bronx cheers that the boys sometimes unleash at the Polo Grounds when decisions are [illegible].

As one listened, it was apparent that at last Chopin and Mozart have gained proper recognition.

No less than twenty gentlemen of the pugilistic science were assembled on a platform adjoining the practice ring to answer the call of Mr. Flynn. He chose six of the gentlemen to stand before his warrior and receive the slug. In all the history of boxing, as well as that of materia medica and the dissecting room, never had such a bunch of mediocre battlers been collected on one shelf. It is reported that one anthropologist of the University of Chicago listened to the scene to examine this unrivaled group.

Then he staggered dizzily to his hone and shattered his precious plaster cast of the skull of the Neanderthal man, saying:

"I have no more use for you. The guys out there are away before your time."

Tilden Great Champ Real Competitor Best Stand Now

Old-Time Fans Like Old Boxers Write About Them

By NICK FLATLEY

TILDEN'S STAND HIGH SPOT OF GREAT CAREER

BILL TILDEN, fighting to keep the Davis Cup here in America, has reached the peak of one of sport's greatest careers. For a matter of eight years now William has been taking them all on and brushing them all aside. He has met the assaults of all the tennis invaders and crushed them with his superb brilliance at his own game.

Nick Flatley

Now he is meeting the most serious threat of his long years in the campaigns. This French team has class and youth, the almost insuperable combination. Bill still retains his class, but youth is no longer his. Seven years of battling in the first flights at the net game would sap the energy of old Kid Hercules himself.

France has been threatening for years to take the cup back to the land of the lillies and Tilden has been quelling the threat. Now, when the years are just beginning to take their toll, Bill must meet the most dangerous rush of impetuous youth that ever has come storming at his throne.

It will be up to him to save the doubles today. Then he must go on to win again at singles tomorrow, unless little Bill Johnston comes back to life. Mister Tilden has quite a job in front of him. In a short net scrap he would still be supreme. But the reserve strength that these next two days require may not be present when the call comes.

Tilden has been one of the greatest competitors sport has known. His record over the years will always be tennis history. He has the heart to fight after all hope has fled. He may have to do that in this war, but the heart will not be sufficient where the enemy has the same essential in large amounts and a store of youthful energy to keep the technical part of things going.

America may lose the cup, but whatever happens one of the best of all the champions will make it a real fight, and will snatch a few new laurels to drape on his already overcluttered brow.

OMAHA WILL NEVER BE THE SCENE OF A TITLE BOUT. THEY FINE THE FAKE FIGHTERS OUT THERE.

OLD TIMERS GIVE MODERN BOXERS THE LAUGH

SOME few days ago a few comments on Mysterious Billy Smith, dying in the West, drew forth quite a flock of letters from old ring fans. One and all they were of the opinion that the Mysterious Billy and other good boys of the old days could smack the tar out of the present champs and not even get warmed up. One of the most interesting of the communications follows:

"I am writing to let you know that I consider your article on Mysterious Billy Smith and other oldtime boxers as wonderful, every word of it was the absolute truth. I was an errand boy on the Police News at the time you refer to and, of course, was very much interested. I eventually became a boxer, under the name of Young Emery, and came from the old North End, where nearly every boy could fight.

"I boxed the main bout in the Cooper Club on Travers street of six rounds for $10, and our present boxing commissioner, Mr. Buckley, was referee. I won the bout and received besides the $10 a split head, as the posts at that time were not padded.

"I also boxed and won the main bout in the old Lafayette Club on Haverhill street for $20, going six rounds, and retired without a defeat. For the benefit of the oldtimers may I name a few from the "Dear Oh" who I honestly believe could lick the majority of the present day crop of boxers with one hand in a sling—Joe "Turk" Lynch, Jack Toland, Mike "Skid" Farrell and Connie Doherty. All gone and forgotten now, I believe. Those were days of real fighters."

The writer is still in Boston and a ring fan, but doesn't want his name used. That proves he's not a modern boxer.

JACK DEMPSEY Tells of Comeback

(Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 9.—The experts simply won't quit picking on my legs.

Somebody must have cast a hypnotic spell over the boys long months ago, gave them the hocus pocus stuff that my legs were "gone" and all that's happened since, in the matter of contradictory evidence, can't get 'em out of the trance.

Before the Sharkey fight, those boys wore themselves into nervous wrecks writing to the home town folks in elaboration of their idea that "Dempsey's legs are gone." The way they wrote, almost made me—and my legs—objects for pity.

And all the while they were writing that about me they were telling about Sharkey's legs, about his great speed and how he would step around and make me look like a lame truck horse. It was settled and also anchored with a few dozen [illegible]

If Sharkey outstepped me at any time in that fight I can't remember it. It was I CARRIED the fight to him. Whenever he tried to back away, as fast as he was supposed to be and as slow as some of the experts [illegible] I stepped forward a [illegible] FASTER than he stepped backward.

I WAS on top of the so called "Whirlwind" Sharkey all through that fight. He never outpaced me at any time. When [illegible] held me up [illegible] fifth and [illegible] in the seventh.

But since that fight, these writers [illegible] "Dempsey's legs are gone" [illegible] around my training camp now—the same old story.

And if I make Gene Tunney look [illegible] with [illegible] on the 22nd and then knock him out—[illegible] it's 10 to 1 that the boys will still insist that "Dempsey's legs are gone."

"One Good Turn Deserves Another"

IT'S your turn now, because every turn of this new Fall Turn Style in all our windows, in all our stores, in every city in U. S. A. presents for your selection a thousand new Styles for Fall in all the new Shapes and Shades.

Perhaps the most noticeable of all the new designs we introduced this Fall is the "Piping Rock". It's a Double-Cut Edge at $5.00, which is now shown prominently by others at $10.00—and you can't tell the difference, in the window or on your head.

The "Briar Cliff" is another. It's an imported Wool Felt, finished by us in America. We have it at $3.50 in all the new woodland shades from a delicate Maplewood Tan to a bright Silver Birch.

And here's a thought to put under your hat. Light colors are going to be popular this Fall but it's not necessary to pay a heavy price for a light color. Dust and dirt will spoil the complexion of a light color regardless of price, and the Weather Man doesn't care whether you pay $3.50 or $13.50.

In our imported Wool Felt we reproduce for $3.50 any color shown by any hat manufacturer AT ANY PRICE.

We cannot reproduce our beautiful new Fall Colors in black ink, and we can't show our Turn-Style in motion in this newspaper.

But if you'll come into our stores we will be glad to show you all the Colors in all Styles, with Brims that snap down, Brims that lay flat and Brims that turn up. Welt edges, raw edges and a variety of silk-bound, satin-lined hats for three-fifty and five.

DAVIS CUP DOUBLES TODAY

Tilden and Hunter Must Beat Borotra and Brugnon to Keep U. S. in Front

Philadelphia, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The greatest dramatist of tennis, William T. Tilden 2d, never had the stage more perfectly set for an heroic role than it was today after an even break between America and France in the opening of two singles matches of the 1927 Davis Cup challenge round.

With as thrilling a performance as he has ever given the international spotlight, "Big Bill" rose to the occasion yesterday by conquering Henri Cochet in four dazzling sets, 6—4, 2—, 6—2, 8—6, after William M. Johnston—gallant "Little Bill" but no longer the "Mighty Atom"—passed swiftly from the picture at the hands of poker-faced Rene Lacoste, in straight sets decided by scores of 6—3 6—2, 6—2.

TILDEN BIG BARRIER.

As a result, the gaunt, sinewy figure of the six times former American champion, apparently as dynamic as ever, [illegible] out as the main barrier between France's impetuous youths and a victory for them that would end this country's seven-year winning streak in Davis Cup play.

In the doubles this afternoon, Tilden was to lead the attack with Francis T. Hunter as his partner in a battle with the remaining two stars of the French team, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon. The only hope of keeping the famous trophy, it seemed, was for the American pair to win today and for Tilden to conquer Lacoste tomorrow in one of the two remaining singles matches.

Johnston apparently no longer can be counted on as a factor in the most exciting Davis Cup battle America has had since 1914, when the Australian attack won the trophy.

"Little Bill," after his debacle yesterday, was hastily withdrawn from the doubles, in which he was to have paired with Tilden. He will play in the final singles match tomorrow, against Cochet, but only a miraculous reversal of form it seems, will enable the Californian to defeat the brilliant young Frenchman who gave Tilden a stirring, even if losing, battle, yesterday.

Johnston was picked this year to share the cup defense with Tilden largely on faith and past performances. To conserve his strength, he came East only a fortnight or so ago appearing in nothing but doubles competition. Because he had always been a nemesis to the French, never having lost a Davis cup match to any of them, it was felt that Johnston could be relied on, perhaps to an even greater extent than Tilden.

LACOSTE PERFECT.

But Johnston's "jinx" wasn't enough to chuck any such flawless stroking machine as Lacoste proved to be. Had Johnston been missing most of his shots by inches, his lack of recent singles competition might be blamed, but he was missing them, instead, by feet.

Dartmouth's Material Is Actually Green

By BILL GRIMES

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 9.—Due to the destruction brought on by graduation, Jesse Hawley must rebuild his Dartmouth team from top to bottom and he is therefore facing the hardest assignment of his long coaching career.

Two years ago Dartmouth was proclaimed champion of the East. Last season the Big Green failed to deliver, losing to Harvard, Yale, Brown and Cornell, and now, with an inexperienced squad, Coach Hawley and his assistants have their work cut out for them.

With the exception of Johnny Philips, Dartmouth lost its entire line. [illegible] Davis, Sykes Hardy, Jack Halloran and Herb Ralston finished their college football careers last Fall.

Philips is set at left guard but every other berth is open and the fight for these jobs promises to be a merry as well as a bitter one.

[illegible] man. Much is expected of [illegible] but he is by no means wedded to his present job.

The two extremes [illegible] tle with Sherman [illegible] Brown, who [illegible] and [illegible] Bragner, who weighs [illegible] 175.

[illegible] his weight [illegible] has the advantage [illegible] second team [illegible] under Norm Crisp [illegible] coach, and delivered.

[illegible] came to Dartmouth [illegible] home is in Cambridge, makes up for his lack of poundage by his fight. He is exceptionally fast coming out of the line, has a terrific charge and is a deadly tackler.

[illegible]

[illegible] Langdell and [illegible] the tackles of Team A [illegible] the assignment is by no means permanent.

Langdell was used at end and tackle last year, but he did not appear physically able to stand the grind.

Foster, who was a substitute tackle last season, came to Hanover from Andover and captained his freshman team two years ago. He has improved noticeably in every department and will prove an asset to the Big Green this year.

GOOD TACKLE TALENT.

There are four more [illegible] experienced tackles on the Green squad, Armstrong, Tex Cole, Swede Sherburg and Tom Wolfe. Armstrong and Cole played the tackle positions for the freshman team last Fall.

The former is an exceptionally promising lineman and much is expected of him this year. Armstrong is weighing about 188, but will be in the [illegible] before the opening game with Norwich University. He came here with a fine reputation as a baseball player and a track man [illegible] New Haven, Conn., and made good on the gridiron for his freshman team but was ineligible for track last Spring.

"Swede" Sherburg, who greatly resembles "Swede" Sonnenberg, the former Dartmouth and University of Detroit guard, was out of college last year, but during his freshman year he showed enough stuff to warrant the prediction that he makes the grade. Sherburg has not reported to Coach Hawley as yet, but will be here before the first of the week.

"Texas" Cole and Tom Wolfe, a former Choate school player, will take considerable beating before they are out of the running for these jobs. Cole weighs about 185, [illegible] and gets more of a kick out of the game than a half dozen ordinary players, while Wolfe is of that quiet plugging type. Lacking the lustre of some linemen, but an effective worker.

WALTER HAGEN HARD PRESSED IN TOURNEY

Chicago, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—Walter Hagen, defending titleholder, faced the second round of play in the Western Open Golf Tournament today out in front but hard pressed by a brilliant field.

Hagen scored par 70 on the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields to get a one-stroke lead over Frank Walsh of Appleton, Wis. Dick Grout of Okmulgee and Eddie Murphy of Chicago.

Those who played over the No. 4 course yesterday traded links today with those who went around the No. 1 course, which has a par of 72. Considering the difference in par, Hagen was tied with Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., National and Canadian open champion, and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, who scored par 72 on the longer links.

There were several other 72's made on No. 4 and a bevy of 73's, including the leading amateur scores of Chick Evans and Art Sweet of Chicago.

Although he took the lead in the first day's play, Hagen came nearly dropping out because of carelessness in turning in the score cards. He handed the signed cards to his partner, Gene Sarazen, who thrust them in his pocket, promptly forgot them and drove away to the city. After long search, the cards were finally recovered and recorded.

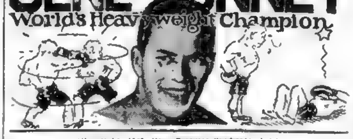
Waterville, Me., Sept. 9.—Football practice started at Colby College with 23 men out in uniform.

Coach Eddie Roundy took charge of the line candidates while his assistant, Bill McFett, gave the backs special drilling.

GENE TUNNEY

World's Heavyweight Champion



(Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Cedar Crest Country Club, Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 9.—I feel a lot better after the two days of rest and I only wish I was going into the ring against Jack Dempsey now, instead of two weeks hence.

My problem is right here facing me and it is a problem that cannot be solved by the lavish use of gymnasium weights or by knocking sparring partners galley west every afternoon in the hot sun. It is a little more involved than that.

I have been training for this fight since Decoration Day and I have reached the exact point of conditioning that I demanded two days before I left my Summer camp at Speculator, N. Y. Now I am on the keen edge, and to keep that edge for the next two weeks is going to be a task that is going to take a great deal of delicate manipulation and wise training.

Here is something the world doesn't know: I had planned all along to fight on September 15 and had trained for that date.

When I first signed with Rickard last Winter to meet the winner of the heavyweight elimination tournament I specified September 15 as the ideal time. And after the Dempsey-Sharkey fight, when the former was adjudged the victor and definite plans were being formulated for the [illegible] September 15 was agreed upon as the date.

But a telegram from Jack, out in Los Angeles, disapproved of the date. Illness in his family forced him to ask for a postponement, and so September 22 was decided upon.

As a matter of fact, I was all ready to fight anyone when I left Speculator. My trip here and my workouts at this camp are aimed only to get myself acclimatized, work off about four pounds and keep my muscles loose.

In carrying out this plan I am scheduling my workouts in a fashion so that I can keep the edge and at the same time have plenty of rest.

Today I will resume work again, and in order that rain may not interfere with the schedule, an indoor ring has been constructed.

I'll get in my four miles today and spend three rounds on the light bag and six with my sparring partners in the afternoon.

This schedule will be carried out Saturday and Sunday.

I will rest again Monday, playing a little golf in the afternoon.

Golf and books are giving me most of my relaxation right now.

MILLIONS BET ON SPORT CLASSICS

Seven to five Tunney beats Dempsey.

Seven to five Pittsburgh does not win the pennant, 9 to 5 the Giants won't, 2½ to 1 St. Louis will not and 5 to 1 the Cubs won't.

Even money Mr. Coolidge won't run again.

Six to five America defeats the British at polo.

Thirteen to ten the New York Yankees win the American League pennant and the World Series, too.

Discussing betting on the National League race, Silinsky said:

"We will lay 9 to 5 the Giants won't win the flag and will take 2 to 1 the Giants do win. We will lay 7 to 5 the Pirates won't win and take 9 to 5 that they will. We will lay 2½ to 1 the Cardinals won't win and take 3 to 1 that they will win. We'll lay 5 to 1 that the Cubs won't land on top we'll take 7 to 1 that they will win."

He said that more than $100,000 already had been wagered on the National League race in Wall Street.

Twenty thousand dollars has been put up and Salinsky has $13,000 more to bet against $10,000 that the Yankees win both the American League flag and the World Series, no matter what club they meet.

"When Tunney and Dempsey were re-matched this Summer, Tunney was a 2 to 1 favorite," said Salinsky. "He is now a favorite at 7 to 5, with plenty of Dempsey money showing up. I think they will enter the ring at even money."

Regarding politics, Darnell & Company is betting this way:

Even money Coolidge will not be prevailed upon to run again.

Three to one Hughes will not be nominated, four to one Hoover will not be nominated, five to 1 Lowden won't, ten to one Dawes won't, fifteen to one Nicholas Murray Butler won't.

Darnell & Company will take 6 to 5 and bet that Al Smith will be the Democratic nominee and will take 7 to 1 that he will be the next President of the United States. If Smith is nominated Salinsky expects the betting will surpass that of any previous Presidential race, because it will be a close fight.

GEORGETOWN CAPTAIN HAS RESIGNED

Wildwood, N. J., Sept. 9.—Gerald Thompson, Mt Vernon, N. Y., captain-elect of the Georgetown University football team, will not play the game this Fall. This was decided by his family, due to the fact that he was sick last Spring for three months with pneumonia.

Claude Grigsby of Chicago has been selected as captain of the team to succeed Thompson. Grigsby was one of the leading centers last Fall. As a defensive player he will not be excelled this Fall.

Another blow to an already shattered team was received today when Vincent Moroney of Oklahoma City, Okla., an end of last year, decided to marry and not return.

Parker Scott of Akron, O., halfback; Gene Gilmarten, halfback, and Charles Flynn, New Haven, all letter men of last year, are not returning for one reason or another.

The loss of these men, with Harry Connaughton, All-American guard; Captain Frank McGrath, and Robert Gormley, quarter-back, and Carl Waite, end, has caused Georgetown to face a hard schedule with disappointing prospects.

YANK FOUR FAVORITES IN POLO

7 to 5 Choice Over the British Team in Big International Event

New York, Sept. 9.—The American polo team will go into the International matches against Great Britain a distinct favorite, with odds ranging from 7 to 5 to 8 to 5.

Barring unforeseen developments, and despite the admission that the American team is not up to its amazing strength of three years ago, the Americans ought to turn back the British challengers in two matches.

Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., is not as strong a player as he would be if he had engaged in all the practice sessions. Still he is powerful enough to blast his way through the strongest opposition the British can muster. But he will have to [illegible] the best of the Britons, Captain C. T. I. Roark.

M[illegible]'s practice sessions have been disappointing, but he has never yet [illegible] and American polo is satisfied that he will once more rise to his full stature when the most trying emergency arises.

Malcolm Stevenson is at the top of his game [illegible] that the [illegible] player in all polo [illegible] for Britain's rivals.

Webb is expected to rise to the opportunity as he did [illegible] years ago, when he played [illegible] game at No. 1 and as he did six years ago when he was [illegible] pivot. Should he fail, America is well provided in a strong reserve in the person of young Winston Guest.

BROWN SPEEDS UP IN GYM

Al Mello and Bobby Brown, both of Lowell, are getting in their last [illegible] workouts [illegible] in preparation for their bout of Monday night, the feature of the 50-round Suffolk A. A. show at the Arena.

The main bout will be [illegible] up [illegible] weeks. Roy [illegible] many months [illegible] Mike Burke, veteran [illegible] heavyweight [illegible] will [illegible].

In the six rounders, Jackie [illegible] of New York will be paired with Pete Cacco of Charlestown, Frankie O'Day of Woonsocket with Harry Foley of the North End, and Larry Brignolia of Cambridge with the best available opponent, while in the opening four rounders, Frankie Mason of the North End will meet Al Chalifoux of [illegible], Jim O'N[illegible] of Cambridge will face George Finch of Marblehead, and Tom Murphy of Somerville will tackle Tim Sullivan of Cambridge.

SIX RIDERS IN ELKES MEMORIAL RACE SATURDAY

Starters in the 5-mile Harry Elkes Memorial Race at Revere Saturday are Franco Georgetti, George Chapman, Bobby Grassin, Charley Jaeger, and Dan Picione.

It is the grand finale of the year on the Revere track. A special three-heat race will find Harris Horder, recent winner of the American sprint championship opposing Freddy Spencer, holder of the title in 1925 and runner up for this year's crown.

A third feature is the final for the New England pro sprint title. The winner of this race will be awarded a golden medal in addition to the prize money. Two events for the amateurs and coin chasers are also due for settlement.

TAD'S TIDBITS

ON Sept. 7, 1892, at New Orleans, La., Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan in twenty-one rounds and became the heavyweight champion of the world.

That was thirty-five years ago.

Sullivan, the champion, insisted that the man who accepted his challenge must bet $10,000 on the side and fight winner take all. The purse offered was $25,000. The fight was to be to a finish.

Billy Brady was Corbett's manager while Billy Delaney was his trainer and chief adviser.

Sullivan would have no canvas floor in the ring but insisted upon having turf, which was brought in and rolled some days before the fight. It was the first and only time that turf was used in a match which was fought under Marquis of Queensbury rules.

The following items were taken from the Cincinnati Enquirer the day after the fight. The news was of such great importance that the entire front page of the paper was given over to the fight. It said in part:

Sullivan Completely Knocked Out.

"The King is dead; long live the King." John L. Sullivan is no longer champion of the world.

That title now belongs to another, and that other is James J. Corbett, the California wonder.

It took twenty-one rounds to settle the question as to which was the better man.

At no time during those twenty-one rounds was Sullivan "in it." He was outclassed at every point. Corbett indeed proved a wonder. His generalship surprised even his greatest admirers, and his knowledge of ring tactics was marvelous.

Sullivan was knocked out completely. He was beaten down with heavy [illegible] blows, and for the first time in his life knows what it is to be defeated. Long after the ten seconds were up he lay upon the sand in the ring helpless. The sand itself was soaking with his blood, and he the winner of a hundred battles, lay in his own blood a terribly whipped man.

The ovation that Corbett received when he was declared the winner was something tremendous, and he walked around the ring kissing and hugging his friends. When Sullivan "come to" he made a speech from the center of the ring, saying that he was glad America got the championship, and that he had fought once too often in the ring.

GREATEST ROMAN—JOHN L. SULLIVAN

Sullivan 4 to 1 Favorite.

AT seven o'clock the big arena began to fill up. By this time there were at least 5,000 people present, and they were pouring into the entrance in streams. There was much curiosity as to who would be fortunate enough to win the lucky corner. The southwest corner was the one occupied by Bob Fitzsimmons in both his victories, and by Jack McAuliffe and George Dixon in the first two encounters of the present fistic festival.

There were many gamblers in the crowd, who were superstitious enough to believe that whoever secured this fateful corner of the ring would win the battle.

Billy Delaney won the toss for Corbett and chose the lucky corner.

At noon there was 4 to 1 against him, but at this time Corbett's friends began to bet their money. [illegible] had a commission of $2,500 from Ed Carney, of New York, which he placed against $7,500. A crowd of capitalists laid $5,000 on the California boy against $15,000.

John L. Lost Crown to Corbett 35 Years Ago

AT [illegible] thirty five George Dixon, the colored champion, came into the arena. He was the first colored man to have the distinction of occupying a seat in the Olympic Club other than those set aside last night for the colored patrons who desired to see the battle.

This was something of a concession from the club when it is remembered that Peter Jackson, the colored champion, and Tiny Williams, Pike Barnes, Tom Britton and other colored jockeys were refused admission to the Dempsey-Fitzsimmons fight.

There was a slight ripple of applause when Dixon took his seat. In the great throng, Cincinnati was as well represented as any city in the country. There were not less than 100 persons from the Queen City of the West.

The Men Weigh In.

JUST before entering the ring both men were weighed. Corbett tipped the beam at 178 and Sullivan at 214. The seconds, principals and referee gathered in the center of the ring and a discussion was had in regard to what should constitute a foul and a clinch.

It was decided that the men could do "in-fighting" as long as one hand was disengaged. This was in Sullivan's favor, as he is good at in-fighting.

It may well be questioned if two such giants ever faced each other in a prize ring. Certainly neither of these had ever faced such a formidable-looking antagonist.

Both were splendid specimens of physical development but they were as unlike as Apollo and Hercules.

Beautiful in every outline from his neck to his heels, Corbett looked the ideal athlete, cut on the whitest marble in heroic proportions. The searching blue white rays of the great electric lights had seemed to chill the last trace of color from his naturally white skin . .

The Last Round.

AT this point Manager Brady, who was in Corbett's corner, remarked:

"Why, Jim has him now [illegible] wants to get in and [illegible] Why, the boy is [illegible] hard and he hasn't [illegible] strength in a blow."

Just then they came to close quarters. Corbett feinted with his left as if to go for Sullivan's stomach. Down went the big fellow's guard, and, quick as a flash, around came Corbett's right with the force of a trip hammer. He had put on his full strength at last. It struck Sullivan straight in the ear and sent him groggy.

With the bound of a panther after its prey the Californian was on him. He was like a demon. Sullivan was dazed, and his hands fell to his [illegible]

Corbett's next blow staggered him, and he followed it up with a shower of rights and lefts. The champion turned, staggered feebly and fell full on his face. He lay there until Referee Duffy had counted off seven seconds, and weak and blood-smeared he rose to his hands and knees, but was too feeble to get up. In attempting to do so he pitched forward again and lay there till the ten seconds were counted off.

Corbett had won the championship of the world without even sustaining as much as a scratch, and was [illegible] as fresh as at the start, while Sullivan's nose was broken, his lips swollen, and he was severely bruised about the face and ribs.

SACCO IS READY FOR BARBARIAN

When Jimmy Sacco of East Boston and Sid Barbarian from Lizzieville, Mich., start in to beat each other up in the feature bout of the Argonne's big show in the Braves Field ring next Tuesday night, more than a mere fight between two of the country's best fighting fighters will be involved.

Should Sacco come through the winner, the outcome of the fray is very likely to lead to the re-establishment here of the 133-135 pound division, a class which in former years was considered but secondary to the heavyweights.

Another 10, the semi-windup of the long card, will bring out Joey Knapp of New York and Billy Alger of Phoenix, Ariz., two of the country's best club welter fighters.

Eddie Mack has completed the 50-50 card with the following fours and sixes:—Fours: Joe Moran, East Boston, vs. Pete Chico, Charlestown; Chris Kelley, Charlestown, vs. Joe Sarkis, the "Socking Syrian" of Manchester, Artie Ryan, Kerry Villa[illegible] vs. Ed Carley, Dorchester, sixes Walter Riley, Worcester, vs. Dave Flash, Fall River, Young T[illegible]nan, Providence, vs. Al Lewis, South End; and Young Al Delmont, North End, vs. Eddie Holmes, Providence.

FINE APPEALED BY STRIBLING

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 9 (I.N.S.).—A hearing in the office of State Boxing Commissioner Ira Voorhees, at Lincoln today, will decide disposition of the purses claimed by Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., and [illegible] Diebel of Chicago, following a questionable boxing exhibition here Tuesday night.

Stribling and Diebel were arrested at the end of the affair, charged with having participated in a "fixed" fight. Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, and manager of Diebel, was also taken in custody when he interferred with the arrest of the fighters.

The two principals were fined $100 each yesterday, but announced they would appeal the fine. John[illegible] was released [illegible].

An interesting side light on the progress of machine dictation is the record of Miss Lucille Rhoades, court official phonetic stenographer at Milwaukee, Wis. For thirty-nine years Miss Rhoades has transcribed from the photograph. She is shown with her 1888 and 1927 models.

Arthur Brisbane, the famous editor, whose opinions are printed all over the world, conserves his time and preserves his inspirations as they take birth in his fertile brain by having a dictating machine in his limousine ready to record his thoughts as he rides toward the office.

Edison is shown here with his new electrified dictating machine, which he perfected only recently. The first complete, tested example of each of his productions is sent to the great inventor himself and is used regularly in the Edison office.

A Story of Sylvia Bryant, Stenographer, Among the Money Crowd

CHAPTER 40.

SYLVIA, alone in Henry Harlan's apartment, slept the deep prolonged slumber of [illegible] exhaustion. Ladd's mind for detail had slipped up slightly—he had overlooked the fact that she might be hungry during the following day of her [illegible]. Fortunately, in Harlan's kitchen was coffee and sugar. She found preserved fruit and a partly emptied box of dry crackers.

Harlan, a bachelor, had his sumptuous quarters well [illegible] with books. Sylvia was not [illegible]. Late in the afternoon she [illegible] her mother and said she was staying downtown for dinner with Miss Thompson, that they were going later to a movie. Alexander Ladd's [illegible] must have been [illegible] for she suffered only the slightest twinge at the deception.

Of Ladd she said nothing, heard nothing. Yet she had [illegible] heart had [illegible].

Shortly after [illegible] she left the apartment and went straight home. So great was her confidence in Ladd that she knew beyond doubt that all was well—that all danger of arrest and [illegible] was past. By now the confession of [illegible] would be in the hands of the police.

Only a man of Alexander Ladd's [illegible]. She wondered how [illegible].

She could, in fancy, hear him telling the police, [illegible] came to [illegible] and confessed. [illegible] his confession on paper and then surrender. He wrote out [illegible] story of the crime [illegible]. You can verify its [illegible] by comparing the [illegible] specimens of [illegible] obtainable. Here, too, [illegible] prints. He [illegible] and tells you where to find [illegible] he used, rather cleverly. He said he was going to go at once to police headquarters and surrender. I [illegible] I had no authority to [illegible] myself. Nevertheless, I immediately [illegible] the place and, [illegible] with the [illegible]. If [illegible] has not [illegible], I presume, because [illegible] his nerve at the last [illegible].

[illegible] would be, substantially, [illegible] Alexander Ladd would word [illegible] scruples, the [illegible] man, had no [illegible] his make-up. [illegible] of conduct, [illegible].

More [illegible] than any person [illegible] known, Alexander Ladd [illegible] the [illegible] that guided the [illegible]. Yet—this was [illegible] no feeling of [illegible] in him. He [illegible] he was vigorously, [illegible] spiritually, to [illegible] upon [illegible] barriers.

[illegible] death of his friend Vance A[illegible] to affect him very [illegible] extent of [illegible] Ackerman's [illegible] order that [illegible] stain [illegible] murder [illegible].

Why?

That, she told herself, was possi[illegible]

The next instant she knew it was [illegible] Ladd's [illegible] to be [illegible]. She was no [illegible] trifle of human [illegible] particle of chaff [illegible] other indistinguishable [illegible] articles.

This [illegible] was provoking [illegible] her interest. The gulf between them was so great . . . [illegible] so overtowering. A man like Alexander Ladd could [illegible] and the love, the life, [illegible] and beautiful [illegible].

[illegible] was small. She [illegible] considered pretty. She was not insensible of the charms of her gleaming [illegible] head, her [illegible]. But in the [illegible] market of Boston she was not [illegible] extraordinary. Yet Alexander Ladd [illegible] spent $25,000 on [illegible] himself, almost desperately, to her cause.

She wondered if he wouldn't have backed a race horse—a favorite—as [illegible].

Her own feelings were much more [illegible] she did not love him. There was not even a gleam of sentimental fascination. What did exist in a [illegible] degree, was gratitude and admiration [illegible] his very strength [illegible]. Not easily could she [illegible] he was as charged [illegible] powerful, [illegible].

[illegible] called her up.

More Startling—Because True

THE latest popular novel may be read with interest—but since the reader knows it is a work of imagination—that the events described never really happened—he forgets them almost as soon as he closes the book.

That is where the startling narratives in True Story Magazine differ from the fiction-maker's chronicles. The story of real life grips the imagination and lingers long in the memory, not only because it is intensely interesting but because it is true.

In the October issue of True Story, for example, there are seventeen gripping, [illegible] absorbing features—each of them a true record of human experience. Your newsdealer can supply you. Get your copy today.

over night, and asked Pete if he had any further details for him.

[illegible] Gibby [illegible] a period of quiet waiting settled down upon the household.

The family routine went on as usual. Different ones went over and back to the hospital as they chose.

Pearl went frequently, carrying choice dishes prepared by the Knollwood cook, which Emily ate and enjoyed.

No one was allowed to see her, but reports were willingly given, and if the [illegible] of the case were [illegible] it was better for the inquiring ones.

By Fred [illegible], the nurse [illegible] Mrs. Lawrence [illegible] the time of [illegible] Emily's [illegible].

But, to their amazement, the result was the [illegible].

At [illegible] of the child Emily became so violently agitated as to cause deepest alarm.

The [illegible] fright and remorse [illegible] Emily had one of her very worst attacks of hysteria [illegible] and spent, [illegible] "the baby"—and it was a long time before they could make her forget the child.

"What does it mean, doctor?" the nurse asked, trying make a clean breast of the incident.

"It means," [illegible] said, "that during the six days of her imprisonment, wherever she may have been, Miss Duane went through severe experiences. We shall never know about [illegible] unless she recovers her mind and [illegible] us. But [illegible] there was [illegible] baby or small child involved some [illegible] as there must have been tomatoes [illegible]. Perhaps other similar matters will come up, so bring in no outside interests of any sort, for anything may stir up trouble. I think there is a little improvement, but the least thing untoward will send her off again."

In an amb[illegible] once again, she was taken home where she was met by only Aunt Julia and Pearl, the doctor not yet willing to risk the excitement of seeing Rodney.

Put to bed in her own room, and again given an opiate, Emily slept quietly all night and next morning woke almost her own old self.

"My room," she said, smiling as she patted the dainty bedclothing, and looked about upon her own belongings.

"[illegible]," she said, at last, and the [illegible] a tender [illegible] stepped forward.

"I'm [illegible]"

"Indeed you are, Miss Duane," and the nurse spoke with glad truthfulness.

"I am not quite well yet, and I [illegible] a little before [illegible]"

"Yes [illegible]. Now don't talk any more until you have had some breakfast."

"All right," and Emily's eyes closed and she lay [illegible] until the tray arrived.

As she sipped her cocoa, she seemed to be [illegible], and [illegible]

"Don't [illegible] don't try [illegible] lots [illegible] now. [illegible]"

"Very well [illegible] smiled again, with that strange new [illegible] returned [illegible] and peace of [illegible]

"[illegible] I don't want [illegible]"

"[illegible] what?"

"A detective, a first-class detective."

"Too easy. That want can be supplied in a few minutes. But what do you want [illegible]?"

"I want to tell [illegible] I've a lot to tell and [illegible] told to the right person [illegible] who can take [illegible] Where's Rodney?"

"Is your [illegible]"

"Perfectly [illegible] but I shall [illegible] tell [illegible] Where's Rodney? On the sofa."

She gave one of [illegible] old time roguish smiles, and the doctor responded.

"I guess he is. He's [illegible] mostly, waiting for you."

"Dear Rodney, I want to see him, but—"

"But you want to get [illegible] other matter off your chest [illegible] That it?"

"Yes, that's it."

"Well, Emily, as [illegible] come to reason yourself [illegible] If [illegible] now [illegible] No [illegible]

"I'll [illegible] lover, I'll rest before I ask to see Rodney."

"You're a brick, my girl, you're really a wonder. All right, [illegible] nurse in a fetching [illegible] and cap, or whatever the girls wear nowadays and I'll serve up one detective."

And so, when Fleming Stone came into the room he saw a pretty girl [illegible] sweet [illegible] propped up against the pillows waiting for him.

"Let me do the talking," he suggested, "[illegible] can set me [illegible]"

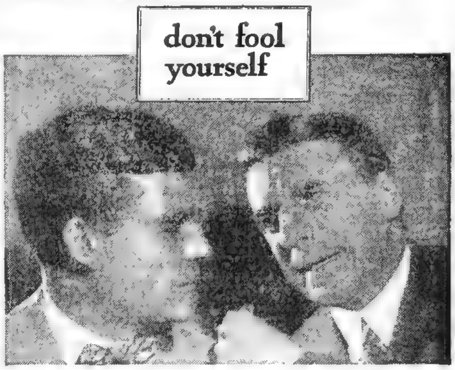
Beauty Hints

Protect your beauty in all kinds of weather with this new face powder—MELLO GLO. Does not give the skin a dry feeling, does not clog the pores; is not affected so much by perspiration. Stays on longer. So pure and fine. MELLO-GLO is made by a new French Process. It's truly wonderful.



Decency demands it

Don't fool yourself by thinking that you never have halitosis (unpleasant breath). The worst offenders are usually unaware of it. You, yourself, can never tell.

⅓ Had Halitosis
115 barbers say that about every third man that walks into the shop has halitosis. Who should know better than barbers?
Face to face evidence

Therefore, common decency demands that before meeting people, you put yourself on the polite side by the use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic. You simply rinse the mouth.

Immediately and effectively, Listerine combats unpleasant odors arising from teeth and gums, the most common source of halitosis.

Better keep a bottle handy in home and office so that you may never offend. You will be interested in reading our free book on etiquette. Address Lambert Pharmacal Co., Dept. G-3, 2101 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo.

BARON WITHERED BY PURE GIRL'S REPLY

Heretofore unpublished photo of Maurine when she was campaigning against the dandruff evil.

Just before the Baron slammed the door he turned to Maurine and made a face at her. He was hopping mad, as evidenced by the fact that he gave the umbrella stand a terrific kick and pushed over the hall clock.

But now he was gone . . . gone . . . . gone.

Maurine sighed softly, turned a handspring, and then, remembering the reader, on page 201, exclaimed—

"He whom temptation never has assailed,
"Knows not the subtle sense of moral strength."

And that, dear friends, is the keynote, we should say, to Maurine's message to the world today.

You, Baron Littlejoy, with your celluloid buttonhole bouquet—your "Twenty-three Skidoo" hatband—your parlor tricks—

You, Baron Littlejoy, with your money, your title, your bicycle, your row boat and your way with women—

List to the words of Maurine LaPelle and heed them well! You nearly had her in your clutches, but she reckoned in time.

Baron Littlejoy, you were the spider and sweet, trusting Maurine was the fly!

But this time, Baron, your tricks have failed. Maurine emerges, as always, pure and optimistic, waving the Stars and Stripes.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS:

By HELEN ROWLAND

BE not deceived, my Daughter, when a man saith unto thee, "go to! I could not ENDURE life with a stupid woman!"

For, verily, verily, NO woman is stupid, in any man's eyes, who AGREETH with all his opinions and laugheth at all his witticisms!

Nay, NO damsel is a dumbbell who applaudeth in the right place, and cryeth, "Hear! Hear!"

And a woman who can be silent in ONE language is more "interesting than she who seeketh to be scintillating in seven languages. Yea, she is accounted "mysterious!"

But a damsel with "opinions" and "convictions" affecteth a man as a cold shower on a Winter morning. She giveth him a SHOCK!

Then consider the Lorelei, and be wise. For she combed her hair and sang her song, and SAID nothing' And no man could resist her!

Go to. What will blonde hair avail thee, if thou art afflicted with a brunette temperament and the moods of a prima donna?

What will beauty profit thee if thou art gifted with a ready wit and a sharp tongue?

What will dimples in the cheek gain thee, if thou hast no hollow places in the mind, and no blank spaces behind the forehead?

What will a retrousse nose avail thee, if thou hast an aquiline disposition and ORIGINAL thoughts?

For a plain woman may overcome her handicap with humility, and conceal her intelligence with dissimulation and sympathy.

But wisecracks in the mouth of a BEAUTY affright a man as a weapon in the hands of a small boy' and wisdom in the mouth of a Sweet Woman is as lemon to his teeth.

And Solomon, himself, had torn his beard and rent his garments, had he suspected that there was an IDEA afloat amongst all his seven hundred wives!

For verily, verily a continuous smile and a vacuous laugh constitute all the "pep" which a man requireth from ANY woman!

SELAH.

Famous Composers

By COZETTE DOUGLAS

TO the long list of composers whose mothers were directly responsible for their ultimate success, must be added the name of Edvard Grieg.

Gesine Judith Hagerup Grieg was a pianist of marked ability and technique, and the possessor of a deeply musical nature. Each week she held a musical evening, where gathered many whose names were well-known in the musical world. In this environment little Edvard was raised and his first lessons were received from his mother.

He was born at Bergen, Norway, on June 15, 1843. Showing early signs of the great promise which has given to the world his magnificent melodies, Edvard was made to practice endless hours on the piano, even before he was of an age to enter school. To quote Grieg's own words: "If I had not inherited indominable energy and musical capacity from my mother, I really believe I would never have succeeded in progressing from dreams to deeds."

When he started to go to school he gleefully recounts the many excuses and subterfuges he used to "play hookey," as the dull routine of the school life and the teasing of his companions were more than irksome to his sensitive nature. However, it was with no thought of pursuing a musical career that he applied himself to his studies, as he firmly intended to enter the ministry He tells of standing in a chair which represented his pulpit and declaiming poems which he memorized from his reader to his family in the evening.

A visit of Ole Bull, the famous Norwegian violinist and a friend of the family, changed the trend of Edvard's life. On hearing Edvard play some of his own compositions, Ole Bull persuaded the family to send Edvard to Leipsig. So, in his sixteenth year, the boy entered the Leipsig Conservatory and had for his friends such men as Arthur Sullivan and Walter Bache.

In 1862 he left Leipsig and again quoting his own words, "When I arrived in Denmark a year later, the veil fell, and my astonished glance fell on a world of beauty that the Leipsig pleasures had hidden from me. I had found myself—I knew now what I wanted and steered courageously for the goal that I set for myself."

On June 11, 1867, Grieg married his cousin Nina, and one of the loveliest of his songs was composed under the inspiration of his love—"Ich Liebe Dich." His wife was also musical, having a sweet voice, and they gave several concerts together.

Grieg's life from then on was a success Honors and adulation were heaped on him, but never changed his unfailing sweetness of nature nor his childlike delight in the recognition of his efforts.

Beloved by all, his death on September 4, 1907, was universally mourned. He is buried in a grotto in a steep cliff projecting into the fjord—where he can eternally rest in the environment which was his inspiration, in the mountains which he so loved.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

A WELL-KNOWN social worker has estimated that there are over 50,000 hard-hearted people in this country. One woman says her husband is so cold-blooded that every time she kisses him she gets pneumonia.

THE doctor took his temperature the other day and it was twenty below zero.

HE'S so mean that if he owned a million dollars in currency he wouldn't give a microbe a place to sit down.

HE'S the kind of a guy who throws banana skins on a step-ladder.

HE went to a church bazaar last week and put mouse traps in all the grab-bags.

ONCE a year he visits the hospitals and throws cracker crumbs in the beds.

BUT he can't help being mean, he inherits it. His father used to work in a penitentiary and every morning he'd go around and drop a handful of fleas in all the straight jackets.

HE was so cold-blooded he had to wear mustard plasters on his chest to keep his ribs from being frost-bitten.

HE was so low he could have his face lifted and still walk under a dachshund.

A CHICAGO woman had to have her husband arrested the other day for putting Canadian dimes in the baby's bank.

HIS grandmother's in the poorhouse and every time he telegraphs her, he sends it collect.

HE went out to the Old People's Home last month and filled all the fire extinguishers with gasoline.

HE saw a man drowning once and ran and got him a glass of water.

WNAC presents the Hawthorne Four of Salem at 8:30 in a thirty minute medley.

FROM New York on the WEEI wave comes the Cities Service Orchestra and Cavaliers who start the evening right with the Dekoven selection: "The Little Duchess." Selections from Herbert include "Under the Elms" and "Bandinage." The long hour program closes with that great favorite of MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose."

* * *

AS expected from stenographers the Royal Stenographers from WBZA tonight step high, quickly, and sprightly. Foxtrot, "Where the Wild, Wild Flowers Grow" is one of the fast moving selections to be heard from this group. Tune in for a peppy thirty minutes dance, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

WHITE STAR LINE TO START NEW SERVICE

London, Sept. 9 (A.P.)—The White Star line, it is stated, will inaugurate a passenger service between Southampton and Canadian ports next Spring, using the liners Megantic and Albertic. They will take on cargo at London and embark passengers at Southampton. Continental traffic will be picked up at Havre, France.

RADIO DIALOG

by C. WILLIAM RADOS

FROM previously listening we had made up our mind that the Metropolitan WNAC program was one of the best hereabouts. It would never do to say it was the best; —keep them guessing.

* * *

Last night they were all there on the air in the weekly program. Ben Hadfield announced and only slipped once or twice. We did not like his obvious puffs for the theatre. With the diversified program put into the air does it take a professor to understand that the show must be similar?

* * *

Joseph Klein started with a musical selection and his orchestra. A peculiar thing about Joe is his interpretation of the score. Every other leader in the world revises the music to suit himself and thus makes it different from what the composer intended. Not so with Joe WNAC. He plays it exactly as he supposes the composer would like it played.

* * *

Result is that Joe's negative personality gets him more attention than otherwise.

A totally different method Joe's orchestra uses is on the stage. They have the drums out in front where everyone can trip over them.

Gene Rodemich has changed the names of his boys to the "Radio Merrymakers," a not too obvious bit of publicity. It is a better name than many other radio organizations have chosen. Since the name is good we ought to be satisfied. Because Gene's music last night impressed us as lumpy, incoherent, spotty and jumbled. They ought to work harder on this broadcast.

* * *

We liked Lang and Voelk, the harmony boys. They were termed the "Ambassadors of Song." Ambassadors are dignified. The pair last night were dressed something the way the ambassador might be when cleaning out the furnace. But they are real harmony peddlers. Unlike the women on the program, they put enough power into their singing to get through our loud speakers. More of them and less of the other.

* * *

A visitor to a studio is somewhat disillusioned. In this studio we saw bare legs, too much make-up, dressing gowns, collarless necks and beards. It is too Revere Beachy. Henceforth, our listening will be via strictly a loud speaker. When we listen to it thusly the Metropolitan program strikes us much better. It only needs some serious thought to improve it so it will set the pace.

FUR SALE

Hundreds of High Grade Unredeemed

FUR COATS

New and Some Slightly Worn

$25-$35-$45 UP

Must be sold to the public by law of the City of Boston regardless of their values. These Fur Coats have been taken in pledge from furriers and general public during the dull time to raise ready cash and have not been redeemed. You will find that some of these garments could not be duplicated for $300 or more. To describe each coat would take pages. We admit values like these seem unbelievable, but the coats are here for you to judge for yourself by any comparison you wish to make. A small deposit will hold any coat you select.

$100.00 in Cash Prizes
for a Letter on the Subject:
How I profited by READING an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser CLASSIFIED AD.

LIST OF PRIZES

First Prize	$25.00
Second Prize	15.00
Third Prize	10.00
Five Prizes, each	5.00
Five Prizes, each	3.00
Ten Prizes, each	1.00

Here's all you have to do:

If, through reading an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser Classified Ad, you have found a better position which has given you a new interest in life—found new happiness and independence by buying a home—secured a pet which has added something to life—recovered or restored to others precious lost articles—or perhaps found a business opportunity that changed your whole course in life—write about it.

Write on one side of a sheet of paper, preferably in ink, in about 100 words, the story of how the reading of an Evening American or Sunday Advertiser Classified Ad resulted in a profitable experience for you.

Don't worry about your composition. Just give facts, names and dates. Letters will be judged on the basis of originality, news value and the importance a Classified Ad played in your life.

Even a post card may be large enough for your purpose. Mail your story to

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

The Outcast

"Math"

The mid-Summer institute of superintendents and headmasters of the secondary schools of New Hampshire, held recently at Keene, should have been advertised. The Cheshire House would not have been half big enough to accommodate the crowd if it had been generally known that here was going to be a meeting of schoolmasters where "Math" would be without a friend.

These instructors seemed not to care overmuch for Latin, either, although the language found a defender in the Commissioner of Education, Mr. Butterfield.

The same question was asked by teachers with reference to both studies: "WHY should it be taught?"

"Why should algebra be taught?" one superintendent wanted to know, and the answer was, "Because we have ALWAYS taught it."

Latin, similarly attacked, found a vigorous defender in Professor Harlan M. Bisbee of Robinson Seminary. It "makes for character growth and good citizenship," he said, and goes "hand in hand" with English. He "deplored" the driving of students to "new subjects," at the same time admitting that Latin means WORK. Well!

But when the oldest of the sciences was mentioned, there was none so poor to do it reverence.

Superintendent John S. Gilman presented a committee's report on program revision. The only reason HE could give for the teaching of mathematics in the ninth grade was that the "teachers of mathematics" recommended it. Much of the subject, he said, was "beyond the comprehension of a large number of pupils," which is the same discovery a Harvard statistician reported not long since in connection with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

There was no specific mention of trigonometry, which probably has more enemies than prohibition and not one-tenth as many friends, the attack being upon Mathematics as a whole. And, as the Manchester Union correspondent tells it:

"In direct contrast to the situation when the same query was made regarding Latin, NO ONE TOOK THE FLOOR IN DEFENSE OF MATHEMATICS."

A great mistake was made in not advertising the show and charging admission. The rush of collegians about to enter the sophomore year conditioned in "Trig" would have paid the expenses of the institute. If Math finally has fallen so low as to be without a friend among the schoolmasters it is quite as forlorn as somebody or other mentioned in the History of the House That Jack Built. Three loud and lusty cheers would appear to be in order from all who loathe, hate and abominate Work.

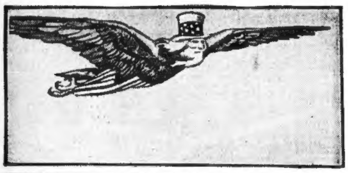
Europe Discovers That We Are Not All "Dollar Grubbers"



EUROPE'S NEW PICTURE OF UNCLE SAM.

This representation of Uncle Sam with a stovepipe hat, striped trousers, flying through the air, published in De Amsterdammer, of Holland, shows that Europe is changing its mind about Uncle Sam.

The old theory was that America was a nation made up of dollar grubbers, ignoramuses and second-rate descendants of emigrants from Europe.

The American was supposed to grub for his dollars in dense ignorance, then go to Europe to acquire knowledge, and incidentally reveal ignorance in the spending of his dollars.

When young Lindbergh flew across the ocean, alone, followed by Chamberlin and Levine, then by Byrd and his companions, the Europeans opened their eyes.

How could it be possible that dollar-grubbers could be the first to fly over the ocean at one "hop," doing the thing that Europe had not done, and taking risks that actually indicated ambition?

Our good friends in Europe, some of whom are rather provincial and a trifle self-satisfied, forgot that the people of this country, "descendants of emigrants," descend from men and women that had the courage TO CROSS THE OCEAN in days when to cross the ocean meant something.

The man in Ireland, Italy, France, Germany, England, Scotland, Wales or any country with sufficient energy and ambition to pack up his family and come to America across the ocean, often in a small sailing ship, not knowing what he would find when he got here—THAT MAN HAD COURAGE AND AMBITION.

And courage is one of the qualities of greatness in nations and individuals.

When Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd started across the ocean through the air they used courage inherited from the emigrants back of them.

Some of those emigrants may have been humble peasants; some, of course, were men of education, daring and PROTEST. But all had COURAGE.

That's why old Uncle Sam is the real flier of the world, although his Government, for some particular reason, is extremely backward about using the flying machine that was INVENTED in America.

VISITING NURSES AID DISTRESSED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WE have all sorts of days from Christmas and Fourth of July to Mothers' and Fathers' Day. But there is no more pressing need than to have some time set apart when we should all help along with the visiting nurse.

The immediate problem of almost every family in the world is their health. The need for health underlies all other things. The nurse is simply an expert in the laws of health.

In so many cases we are preys to all kinds of ignorance and superstition, especially in regard to health. We are led astray by numerous advertisements on nostrums and cure alls. Dependence upon these imperils the health of many a family.

The nurse is trained in the established rules of health and disseminates information about these rules. We are not always able to secure a physician, and doctors are often extremely busy or too high priced for our means. Many a family who cannot get the services of a doctor is reassured and comforted by the presence of the nurse. Her sure and self-possessed manner is helpful to all of the family. It comforts the mother to know that her child is properly attended to. She does the best she can, but is limited by her lack of knowledge.

Who can tell how much health and joy has been disseminated by these visitants in their daily rounds. Their business is to bring comfort and assistance to all. Without respect to creed or nationality they take care of all who are human beings and perhaps the visiting nurse is the finest example of the true Christian spirit. She helps to heal in accordance with the laws of nature and there is no finer business in which one can be engaged. Neither is there a better way for one disposed to help humanity than to contribute to their support. They have an open door to all distressed and all are pleased to see them come. They are the true ministering angels to tormented humanity.

Whatever your creed or whatever may be the color of your mind, you can safely join in the spirit of this institution.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

A brave man struggles in the storms of fate.—Pope.

Misery travels free through the whole world.—Horace.

Liberty's in every blow!
Let us do or die. —Burns.

Ah! who can tell how hard it is to climb
The steep where Fame's proud temple shines afar! —Beattie.

To bear is to conquer our fate.—Cambell.

To be conscious that you are ignorant is a great step to knowledge.—Disraeli.

The head is always the dupe of the heart.—Rochefoucauld.

But no pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage ground of truth—Bacon.

If you would know the value of money, go and try to borrow some—Franklin.

Better by far that you should forget and smile,
Than that you should remember and be sad. —Rossetti.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

MANY years ago two Boston men graduated from college the same year. One, Mr. A, graduated from a school visible from the dome of the State House. The other graduated from another Boston college not in sight of the State House.

Both are now of the bald dome age. We were interested in their successes.

• • •

Mr. A early went into business fir himself, manufacturing toys and mechanical novelties. After years of effort he achieved moderate success. Then came along a dancing phonograph doll of which Mr. A sold a million. Today his factory glistens and gleams with up-to-dateness and prosperity. He is ready to market another toy, sales of which are expected also to reach the million mark.

• • •

Mr. B became an inventor, and also remained in Boston. His inventions were marvels. He went into business manufacturing. After years of patient struggling his factory emerged shining and gigantic. But Mr. B was no business man.

• • •

Unable to make his business pay, he had to sell out and left for Florida a few weeks ago. Had he beer able to work for Mr. A the combination would have been a tremendous success. Mr. A is a business man, but a poor experimenter. Mr. B is a successful investigator, but his experiments in business resulted in failure.

• • •

As we strolled along Tremont street we wondered where the old-fashioned lunch room had gone to. Now they call themselves "cafeterias," use saucers, and expect men to remove their hats when eating.

• • •

We kept on going and saw Elbert A. Wickers, who lectures for a living. Near him was William P. Hart working hard in Charlestown as a bank president. Walter Hawkins and N. Edwin Covel, merchant and candy man respectively, were there. We kept going, the company was attractive to us.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I WONDER if men really prefer honest women?

Do they admire frankness and fairness, particularly in their wives, or do they prefer wily, selfish little schemers, who are always holding something back or trying to put something over on them?

"Why, of course, they prefer honest women who'll play fair," you protest indignantly.

I'm not sure. Neither will you be when you've thought it over.

The question came up when we were talking about Art Andrews the other night. Art's a successful contractor—thirty-five — good looking—smart—popular.

Now bear this in mind. Art always makes a great point of honesty and frankness. Can't bear any underhanded work or pussy-footing. Nothing makes him madder than to find that one of his men is holding out something on him or trying to work some scheme. He'll fire him pronto. Always says that that is one thing he won't stand.

Three years ago Art married Helene. Everyone had wondered what sort of a girl he'd pick. Art's a big husky himself, jolly and easy going, and we thought he'd choose a girl of his own type. But instead he picked one of those little kalsomined dolls with a baby toddle and a trick smile.

And her smile isn't the only trick thing about that young lady. Houdini never had anything on her when it comes to juggling facts or pulling bluffs. Nothing really bad about her, of course, but she's one of those women who simply can't think in a straight line or get any enjoyment out of life unless she's hoodwinking the other fellow.

And it's certainly a paying line. The clothes and money and jewelry she gets out of Art would make poor old Captain Kidd's performance look like a kindergarten game. Yet he lives in a perpetual atmosphere of fibbing and alibi-ing, scheming and squabbling.

Now you'd think that this would be pretty tragic for Art, considering how he has advocated square shooting. But—will you believe it—he eats it up! He's everlastingly telling what a "slick little devil" his wife is and boasting how he "can manage her." And the other men evidently agree for they come back with some large tales about what a time they have outwitting their own missis.

"I can't believe it," I said the other night, when we were talking it over. "I can't believe that you can really prefer women like that. Surely you'd rather have women who'd play fair and wouldn't trick and plague you like a bunch of spoiled babies."

"I don't know about that," grinned Jim, who's a 100 per cent. male and wise to his sex. "Of course, all men say that they'd like these superwomen but when it comes to marrying 'em—you don't see it happen very often, do you? I guess most of us like to think that we are big, brave bimbos who can lick our weight in wildcats.

"So we pick ourselves a wildcat, one that's maybe a little dumb, but has a lot of pep and some pretty fur that will do us proud. Of course they scratch—but that gives us an opportunity to prove what lion tamers we are. And the dumber they are the brighter we seem by comparison. But these intelligent women with the grand character—well, they don't give a man much of a chance to strut his stuff."

That's Jim's vision of why Gentlemen Prefer Liars. I've a horrible hunch he's right.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A PALACE stands upon the hill among tall, stately trees; so fair a thing the pulses thrill at those rare harmonies. We marvel at the patient skill that wrought such matchless art; we marvel at the strength and will that nobly played their part; at man's endurance, day by day, through storm, through cold, through heat, through fall of snow, all chill and gray, or when fierce sunbeams beat. But greater wonder woven there about that palace tall, than beauty or than art more rare, the vision back of all! The vision that could see those walls in peerless splendor rise, could map those lovely courts and halls, those graceful balconies, greater than patient toil or skill that made this marble gleam, this is the matchless marvel still, the vision and the dream.
